RALPH MCGILL

The President Has the Aces

Things happen. Secretary Dulles, confident the Senate will not dare turn down the President's request for endorsement of his right to use troops in the Middle East, lectured the members sharply... apparently enjoying it. "Turn him down," he said, "and assume responsibility for war if it comes."

They winced, but they kept silent. The senators know when to talk—and when not.

On the factor of aid to the Middle Eastern countries, Senators Russell of Georgia and Fulbright of Arkansas asked intelligent, probing questions.

Why, they wanted to know, do the oil-rich nations need aid? And how much do they need? And will it get to the people if provided?

They were fair questions. They are legitimate because the record is that the ruling families of the Arab countries probably are the most grasping and cruelly callous to their own people in all modern history.

But it also is fair to say the administration is trying to avoid a war. They can't reform the depths of corruption in the Arab countries. That will require generations of patriots within those countries. It needs to be said, too, that these peoples are newly come to self-government, or relatively so. They have behind them hundreds of years of debased Turkish rule. They have no traditions of honesty in administration of public affairs. Nor have they had any evolution of a social consciousness.

Social Reforms

The United States has had such a development only in the last half century. There were beginnings before that, to be sure. The Cleveland administration was the first big milestone. But the first great social reforms in our own country came with Woodrow Wilson. They became even more formalized under Franklin D. Roosevelt. Now the social consciousness of our people is so firmly imbedded in the law and in the minds of the American people none questions it. The Eisenhower administration endorses and expands it.

One cannot, therefore, expect the Arab nations to complete their evolution overnight. But Senators Fulbright and Russell performed a necessary service. There is real need to shake the state of mind of the more feudal-minded Arab ruling families.

It is likely they already are somewhat shaken by Prime Minister Nasser of Egypt. It was he and his officer associates who overturned an ancient throne, heir to the Pharaohs. They did so because the Egyptian ruling class, close to the throne, was so greedy and corrupt it made the error of not taking care of the army.

The Egyptian standard of living remains probably the lowest in the Middle East in so far as the peasant is concerned. But Nasser's army never misses a meal, a pay day, or special favors.

Russian Support

The Russians know this. They support Syria—it, too, is run by an army clique which has, in the past years, changed governments with careless ease. They are busy in Jordan—where an army is paid by, of all things, an English subsidy. It has been continued, even though Jordan has abolished British direction of that army.

Jordan is embarrassed thereby. But being practical, they have not yet cut loose from the Queen's purse strings. They currently are shopping around for a subsidy from Egypt. That country can't pay it. Jordan is just about finished. Russia may pay it.

All this is why Mr. Dulles could, figuratively speaking, shake a warning finger at the Senate. It isn't often a secretary can do this. Mr. Dulles relished it. And the Senate, being wise, took it. (Mr. Dulles, though, would be wise to know the Senate will not forget it.)

The Secretary of State is right. Alexander, Napoleon, a number of czars, the Kaiser, Hitler and, in the last great world war, all the allies, included this area in their planning and fighting.

Here is the greatest oil supply; the strategic land bridges between Asia, Europe and Africa. Here are the waterways of canal, straits, seas, gulfs and control of the eastern Mediterranean.

Professor Dulles knew he could deliver a lecture.

Congress Counts On Humphrey's Aid for Economy

Bid To Shift School Load Stirs Battle

By WILLIAM M. BATES

The Georgia Legislature wound up its first week Thursday with a fight brewing over Gov. Griffin's plan to shift more of the burden of schooling financing to the local level.

The House and Senate quit until Monday after brief sessions during which a batch of new legislation was introduced.

Leaders of both houses predicted the legislative pace will pick up next week when committees start funneling bills to the floor for action.

HOME FOR WEEKEND

As the legislators went home for the weekend, a battle shaped up over Griffin's recommendation that the Legislature raise the ceiling on the so-called charge-back provision of the Minimum Foundation Program for Education.

This would have the effect of forcing richer counties to pick up a greater proportion of their school costs from local funds. Forty-two of the 200 school systems in the state would get less state support.

Legislators from large counties mapped a fight against the Griffin proposal. Sen. Fred Bentley of Marietta said the move would "place the fastest growing areas of Georgia in a very serious financial situation."

WANT JOINT MOVE

He and other populous area lawmakers insisted that the charge-back should not be changed unless it is coupled with another action to put the Minimum Foundation Program on a current average daily attendance basis.

"In my county (Cobb), we have more than 2,000 additional students each year for which we are not receiving funds from the Minimum Foundation Program because payments are based on last year's average daily attendance and not the current year," Bentley said.

Sen. Charlie Brown of Atlanta said he would oppose any action that would take funds from the

3 B52s Reported Circling World In Nonstop Dash

CHICAGO, Jan. 17 (AP)—The Chicago Tribune said tonight that three Air Force B52 heavy jet bombers "are nearing the end of a record-breaking nonstop flight around the world."

The newspaper, in a dispatch from Washington, said it learned the big bombers, each powered by eight jet engines, are scheduled to land tomorrow morning at March and Castle Air Force bases in California.

The flight was described as a "demonstration of the long reach of American atomic air power." The B52s are equipped to carry this country's most powerful weapon, the hydrogen bomb.

Robert Snodgrass, Georgia's Republican National Committee chairman, received one of the telegrams. He was en route to Washington and could not be reached for comment.

They were considered more likely to have a "kiss of death" effect, if any effect at all, on Alcorn's chances for the post, heretofore rated excellent.

Stassen's name is anathema in some Republican quarters as a result of his aborted attempt last summer to knock Vice President Nixon off the GOP ticket. Anything he supported would automatically tempt fire from those quarters.

The telegrams, sent from Stamford, Conn., were first disclosed by Rep. B. Carroll Reece of Tennessee, a Republican committee member and former chairman.

Reece, known as a "Taft Republican" like Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California, told reporters the telegram he received was marked "confidential" and that it said:

"The time has come for liberals to take a stand. Let's keep the future of the party and country safe from the Nixons and Knowlands."

Chancellor H. W. Caldwell

University Panel Asks $2 Million

By BRUCE GALPHIN

The House University System Committee Thursday prepared for a bare-knuckles fight to win $2,385,000 a year more for higher education in Georgia.

The group also laid the groundwork to establish a "university foundation" program similar to the Minimum Foundation Program for common schools.

Unanimous support for the budget increase was voted by the committee after university system Chancellor Harmon W. Caldwell warned the institutions may fall below accrediting standards unless they have 160 new teachers next fall.

Caldwell said the increase approved by the committee was an "absolute minimum" needed by the system for raises, new teachers and building renovations.

Last year a House group went after $9 million more for the colleges. Eventually they were able to get more than a million.

This year committee Chairman J. Ebb Duncan of Carroll insisted the request be "realistic." Rep. M. M. "Mugsy" Smith was in favor of naming a higher figure which could be compromised on.

Duncan opposed the Fulton

Griffin Weighs DeKalb Plan To Shift House Seat Strength

By RICHARD ASHWORTH

Gov. Griffin told DeKalb County legislators Thursday he will "carefully consider" their appeal for a study aimed at giving large counties more members in the House of Representatives.

About two hours before DeKalb legislators delivered to Griffin their letter requesting the reapportionment study, however, the governor declared during his morning news conference:

"I would not recommend a reapportionment bill."

Griffin also said then that his record is clear on his advocacy of the county unit system which is based directly on the House apportionment.

A short while later, Rep. W. Colbert Hawkins of Screven County, the administration's House floor leader, said he is "for leaving the apportionment system just as it is."

The letter was presented to the governor by Gwinnett County's Sen. Frank Quill Sammon Jr., whose three-county district embraces DeKalb, and by DeKalb Reps. W. Hugh McWhorter, Guy W. Rutland Jr. and James A. Mackay.

Sen. Sammon told the governor that for his part, "I'm a county-

Joint Panel Will Study Jekyll Sale

Investors To Meet With Legislators

By JACK NELSON

A plan to sell Jekyll Island will be studied Tuesday night by a joint Senate-House committee appointed by Gov. Griffin. The Constitution learned Thursday.

An outline of the plan already has been presented to Griffin by a group of 10 Georgia investors interested in acquiring the state-owned island.

Randall Bedgood, Athens real estate developer and one of the investors, said the plan calls for competitive bids on leasing the island with an option to buy.

"RECOUP INVESTMENT"

Griffin reportedly told the committee he would try to meet with them when they discuss the plan Tuesday night.

In his address to the General Assembly Tuesday, Griffin said the "wisest course" the state could follow would be to dispose of the island if it could "recoup its approximate investment."

Bedgood said his group's plan will be presented by Dr. Hugh Masters, director of continuing education at the University of Georgia.

He emphasized that Masters is a consultant to the group and would have no financial interest in the group's plan to acquire the island.

DISAVOWS POLITICAL TIES

"No politicians and no one identified with any political group are members of my organization," Bedgood said. "If our plan is accepted, we don't know that we will get the island. It would be handled on a competitive bid basis. But we would have an opportunity to bid on it."

Meanwhile, in another Jekyll development, Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook told The Constitution that there is no law against selling alcoholic beverages on state-owned property.

And Rep. Robert Scoggin of Floyd, chairman of the Jekyll Island Study Committee, said sale of intoxicants is "absolutely essential" to development of Jekyll Island as a resort.

TO BE SUCCESSFUL

"I'm not advocating it," Scoggin said, "but it would take that to bring in sufficient revenue to make it a successful resort for the working man."

The question of legality of alcoholic beverage sales on state property went unanswered last summer after Gov. Griffin ordered an investigation of beer sales on Jekyll. At that time Cook said he was not sure whether such sales were prohibited. He said he had heard there was such a law but had not pinpointed it.

Cook said Thursday that "the law is silent on it. Such sales are not prohibited."

Percolating FBI Seeking Grounds For Loss of Pot

BOSTON, Jan. 17 (AP)—A $50,000 gold, diamond and ruby encrusted coffee pot, which has been transported about the country in promotion of the March of Dimes, was reported missing today.

Police and FBI agents investigated.

The percolator, last used Monday night at the Boston Yacht Club in Marblehead, was to have been sent by air to Providence, R.I., Tuesday.

An official was quoted as saying an attendant of an air freight company discovered its absence as he prepared a shipment at Boston Airport.

The percolator has 250 diamonds and several rubies embedded in it. A 4-carat diamond is attached to the glass dome.

The pot is on loan to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis from Landers, Fry and Clark Co., New Britain, Conn.

Slowly rising temperatures throughout the state Friday and Saturday are forecast by the Weather Bureau.

Georgians from the frozen hills in the north to the frigid plains to the south endured the winter's lowest temperatures Thursday. The bureau said that things would gradually thaw out.

Early Thursday morning the mercury fell to 16 in Atlanta, equalling the record for that date

In Georgia, these temperatures were recorded early Thursday morning: Rome, 15; Marietta, 16; Chamblee, 17; Columbus, 25; Gainesville, 14; Macon, 27 and LaGrange, 21.

NORTH SIDE FRIGID

Early Friday north Georgia had lows ranging from 12 to 18, with highs in the afternoon predicted in the upper 30s.

Atlanta's low for Friday morning was forecast from 14 to 18 with a high in the afternoon of 38. Saturday's temperature extremes are expected to be 22 and 45.

The Savannah Weather Bureau forecast a Friday morning low of 22, with a possibility of some inland areas dropping to 15.

Although this winter seemed to many one of the worst in recent years, here are the low temperatures for recent winters:

Jan. 9, 1956—23; Feb. 12, 1955—13; Jan. 13, 1954—21; Dec. 18, 1953—13; Jan. 30, 1952—16; Feb. 2, 1951—8 and that lovely day of Nov. 25, 1950, when the temperature was 3 degrees above zero.

The United Press reported at least 53 deaths due to the cold wave in the northern regions of the United States.

Bitter cold and driving winds, plus sleet and snow, combined to jam traffic and slowdown industrial plants.

In Ohio not a single weather station reported a temperature above zero.

Ike, Nehru Swap Notes on Mideast

NEW DELHI, India, Jan. 17 (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru and President Eisenhower have exchanged new personal messages about American plans for the Middle East, informed New Delhi sources said today.

The White House on Jan. 7 said Eisenhower sent Nehru a personal message. Since then, the sources said, Nehru has replied and Eisenhower has sent a second message.

But Nehru made Apse promise to have nothing more to do with Mrs. Werra. The judge then dismissed the case.

Werra, who worked in the same machine shop with the mustache-oe hypnotist, had charged he brought Apse to his home to "help" his wife and ended up in competition with her "previous life" spouse.

The other husband turned out to be Apse himself, Werra charged. He said Apse told his wife they were married in 1776 during the Revolutionary War.

Apse said he had believed the "previous husband" story, although "it didn't come from me."

Hypnotist Tells Victim To Return to Husband

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 17 (AP)—A hypnotist accused of stealing another man's wife by convincing her they were married in a previous life put her in a trance today and told her to go back to her husband.

Apse, 59, a machine shop operator, took his "imaginary" wife, Mrs. Rose Werra, 43, in Nehru's chambers. The judge, newsmen, and Mrs. Werra's disgruntled husband watched.

"Forget Jacob," Apse intoned. "Return to your former estate with your husband."

"You will give him the same love and respect you did before you knew me. I will mean nothing to you and will have no influence over you."

Werra said: "I'm satisfied."

West Trying To Split Reds, Chou Shouts

Blasts Ike's Mideast Plan And Allied Action in Suez

By ROY ESSOYAN

MOSCOW, Jan. 17 (AP)—Premier Chou En-lai accused the West today of trying to loosen the ties of Communist countries with the Soviet Union. He promised the leaders of the Kremlin that Red China will "exert all its efforts to strengthen the eternal and indestructible ties between us."

Just back from visits in Warsaw and Budapest, Chou made crystal clear in a speech the alignment of Red China behind the Soviet Union in its campaign against "national communism" in Poland and Hungary, or wherever it may arise.

Chou shouted as he addressed Soviet workers who turned out in his honor in the Kremlin Palace.

FRIENDSHIP IS ETERNAL

Soviet Premier Bulganin echoed Chou's words that Soviet-Chinese friendship was eternal. Nikita Khrushchev, the Soviet Communist party chief, who has been visiting in the hinterlands, was present but did not speak.

Chou went straight down the Kremlin line in blaming the Hungarian revolt on "Western imperialists." He denounced President Eisenhower's Middle East doctrine and the British-French intervention in Egypt.

"BREAK THE UNITY"

In Budapest, Chou and Premier Janos Kadar signed a joint declaration that set forth Red China as fully agreeing with the action of the Soviet Union in using its armed might to crush the Hungarian revolt.

Chou declared that "imperialists are still trying to interfere in the affairs of Hungary through the United Nations. They are also trying to inflame nationalistic feeling in Socialist states with demagogic slogans of freedom and democracy in order to break the unity of the Socialist camp."

Bulganin expressed appreciation of the stand taken by Chou. "We greatly appreciate the position of our Chinese friends with regard to Hungary," Bulganin said. "It coincides exactly with that of the Soviet Union."

ASSAILS IKE

Both Chou and Bulganin assailed President Eisenhower's new Middle East policy, with Bulganin describing it as "colonialism in a new form." Chou asserted the Eisenhower doctrine was an attempt to impose "U.S. economic and political rule" on the Middle East.

"But the imperialists cannot turn back the clock," he added. Chou heaped praise on the So-

Khrushchev Hails Stalin As a 'Model'

MOSCOW, Jan. 17 (UP)—Communist Party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev said tonight that Josef Stalin was a "model Communist."

He declared that every Communist should "fight like Stalin" in the interests of the working class.

Khrushchev's warm words for Stalin were voiced at a gala reception given for visiting Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai at the luxurious Hotel Sovietskaya. His remarks were enthusiastically applauded by more than 1,200 guests and Communist leaders.

WAVES FIST

"I do not separate Stalinism from communism," Khrushchev said, waving his fist in the air to emphasize his point.

"But I consider that—as a Communist—fighting for the interests of the working class, Stalin was a model Communist."

A burst of applause interrupted Khrushchev at this point. Chou himself applauded after the remarks were translated into Chinese.

The party leader went on to say:

"We have criticized Stalin, we criticize him now, and if necessary we will continue to do so—not because we regard him as a bad communist as far as the interests of the working class are concerned."

"DEFECTS"

"We criticize him because he had defects which Lenin saw and pointed out before we noticed them and they came true," Khrushchev added.

Premier Nikolai Bulganin, standing at Khrushchev's side, whispered to him: "Enough, enough!"

But Khrushchev was determined to continue his lecture. He grinned and said: "No, not enough."

He declared that the enemies of communism "have seized on what was most advantageous for them. They concluded that in criticizing Stalin, we were criticizing the essentials, Marxism-Leninism."

"But no, gentlemen," Khrushchev added, "you will not see this any more than you will see your ears without a mirror."

Earlier there had been numerous exchanges of toasts between the Chinese and the Russians, with a powerful Chinese drink called

Tearful Marie Quizzed On Inconsistent Stories

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17 (AP)—Marie McDonald emerged in tears tonight after a three-hour session with the county grand jury which is investigating her disappearance two weeks ago.

The blonde actress embraced actor Michael Wilding, talked to her attorney, and then told a crowd of waiting newsmen that the jury had questioned her about what she termed "so-called glaring discrepancies" in a statement she gave to police in Indio, Calif., Jan. 5.

FOUND ON DESERT

Miss McDonald—"The Body" of film fame—was found, bruised and hysterical, on the desert near Indio the night of Jan. 4. She told detectives a story of having been kidnapped from her Encino home by two men.

"I was in a state of shock when I made the statement," Miss McDonald said. "And then I never had a chance to correct it."

The jury moved into the investigation after police announced they were unable to find evidence to prove or disprove her story. She told newsmen the jurors went into detail about her Indio statement.

JURY WAS KIND

"I'm glad to clear up these so-called glaring discrepancies in my statement taken in Indio," she said. The jury had been "very kind," she said.

When she appeared before the jury Miss McDonald said that, "It's my prayer that it will issue John Doe indictments against the two men" she says kidnapped her.

"Once I go through this last ordeal it's on their heads if they let these men go free." She said the kidnappers forced her to go with them by threatening her children with a gun. She claimed they took her to a Los Angeles house before driving her to the desert, beating her and forcing her from their car.

ABLE TO PHONE

During the period the men held her captive, Miss McDonald has said, she was able to phone Wilding, her agent Harold Plant and film columnist Harrison Carroll.

All appeared before the jury today. Plant said Marie phoned him and said "some people were holding her." He said he told her to hold on, dialed police on another line, and asked them to trace the call. He said, however, that the call from Marie was quickly clicked off.

Grace Awaiting His Caroline Or Her Gregory

MONTE CARLO, Jan. 17 (AP)—"I gave several names and she gave several names and we compromised."

Prince Rainier of Monaco said today he and Princess Grace agreed that way to names for their first child, expected soon.

If it's a boy they will call him Prince Gregory, or Gregoire in French. A girl will be Princess Caroline.

Palace officials disclosed how the prince and the former Grace Kelly of the movies compromised—he selected the names for a girl, she chose the names for a boy.

THE MOST TREASURED NAME IN PERFUME

He Needs License For Merging 'Arka-Kansas'

FORREST CITY, Ark., Jan. 17 (AP)—Joe Williams, a Forrest City Negro who works in a junkyard, thought he had a good idea.

He found a 1957 Kansas auto tag and a 1956 Arkansas truck tag. A meticulous cutting job, a bit of bolting down to pin the pieces to a 1956 Arkansas auto tag, and he had himself a 1957 Arkansas truck tag. "Arka" and "Kansas" overlapped to spell "Arkansas" and the sliced portions of a "3" fit.

But he parked the truck in a restricted area one night and policeman H. N. Green went over to take the license number. That did it.

Williams was fined $125.50 in Municipal Court on a charge of bearing a fictitious license.

Race Violence Must Stop, Collins Tells Tallahassee

Calls on City's Police To Act Sternly After Negro's Parsonage Is Shot Up

By BARBARA FRYE

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Jan. 17 (AP)—Florida Gov. LeRoy Collins today urged local authorities to take "immediate and effective" steps to forestall further violence in the Negro campaign to integrate buses in this state capital.

Collins, who suspended bus service for almost two weeks recently after a flare-up of racial troubles, issued the statement after shotgun blasts peppered the empty Baptist parsonage of the Rev. C. K. Steele, head of the integration drive.

Steele disclosed he, his wife and five children will "sleep out" at the homes of friends until the violence stops.

"INEXCUSABLE"

"This kind of lawlessness is inexcusable and it must be stopped," Collins said. "It is essentially a local problem and should be remedied by local action to protect persons and property and to prevent further embarrassment to this community and the state."

"I hope the city and county authorities realize the necessity for immediate and effective action."

In Montgomery, Ala., where bus desegregation was ordered by the Supreme Court, Police Chief G. J. Ruppenthal said tonight that several suspects had been arrested in the dynamiting of Negro homes and churches but all were released for lack of evidence.

WHITES AND NEGROES

He said the suspects included both whites and Negroes.

In another facet of the integration problem, the Tennessee House of Representatives rushed through Gov. Frank Clement's segregation proposals. The measures have not yet been acted on by the Senate.

The five bills provide for a program of voluntary segregation, pupil assignment, transportation, transfer of students and joint use of schools.

ORDERS TO POLICE

Tallahassee Police Chief Frank Soutamire said he was going to stop rock-throwing and shooting here. "I'm meeting my policemen shift by shift and telling them I expect them to do something about it. I am going to tell them to find out who's doing it and bring them into court."

Both Soutamire and Mayor John Humphress expressed a belief the violence is being committed by "high school kids," but Humphress added, "it is dangerous and must be stopped."

Collins restored bus service last Friday as a "test of good will" in Tallahassee.

Gruenther Backs Full Ike Doctrine

(Copyright 1957 by The New York Times Co.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17—Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther appealed to Congress today to approve intact President Eisenhower's middle eastern program as a way to protect peace.

Gruenther, now president of the American Red Cross, retired only recently as supreme commander of the Allied Powers in Europe. "Without prompt action to change the trend (in the Middle East) I fear that the present situation, already serious, can only worsen," he said.

He gave strong support to both aspects of the President's request to Congress—for standby authority to commit U. S. military forces against any Communist lunge and for the uninhibited use of $200,000,000 in economic aid funds in the Middle East.

Gruenther appeared before the foreign affairs committee of the House of Representatives as part of a developing counter-attack on a congressional movement to delay the economic assistance aspect of the administration's resolution.

Without this aid proviso, he asserted, the program would lose "much of its effectiveness."

The Middle East must be strengthened economically, he added, "with on-the-spot-promptness."

Speaker Sam Rayburn coincidentally declared himself to be "leaning very strongly" toward congressional approval of both parts of the program at once.

He also publicly confirmed, as had been reported this morning, that he hoped Congress would grant the President quick and unqualified backing for the use of troops if he should see fit.

Detective, Wife 'Adopt' A Mother and 9 Children

By KEELER MCCARTNEY

For a man who "couldn't afford a family of his own," Detective D. E. Keown admits he's doing pretty well.

Keown suddenly found himself with an adopted family of 10. It all came about as result of a routine investigation and just where it will end the detective isn't sure.

A couple of weeks ago, a woman came into the detective bureau. She said the fire department had refused to permit her to build a fire in her apartment and her children were "freezing."

CHIMNEY BROKEN
Keown and T. V. Mullinax went to investigate. They said the chimney had been broken off and a fire would have been hazardous.

They also found nine children, ranging in age from seven months to 10 years. There was little food and clothing in the house.

The youngest child, a boy, appeared to be ill. Detectives carried him to Grady Hospital, where he was admitted suffering from double pneumonia.

The father was in jail on a drunk charge, detectives said.

Keown and Mullinax took the family to a restaurant and then tucked the youngsters in for the night at the Fulton Juvenile Home.

There the police investigation usually ends.

THOUGHTS REMAINED

But Keown couldn't get the family off his mind. They would not be eligible for support from the welfare department unless the father was at home.

He booked an additional charge against the father of neglect of minor children and the man subsequently was bound over to Fulton Criminal Court. There, Keown said, the charge was changed to abandonment.

Next came the problem of how to bridge the gap until the welfare department could take over. Keown found an apartment for his charges on Washington street, S.W. He and his wife made daily trips there with groceries.

A department store helped with shoes and clothing. The Salvation Army and the welfare department also dug up clothing.

Keown and his wife were busy canvassing relatives and neighbors for "hand-me-down" clothing.

Things were brighter Thursday. The baby had been discharged from the hospital. Welfare help was coming in.

"My wife and I wanted to pay off part of our debts on the house and furniture before we started to raise a family," Keown said.

"We'd never quite made the grade. But when some things come along you can't just turn your back on them and walk away."

School Milk Fees Adjusted In Marietta

Overcharges in connection with the Marietta school system's federally supported special milk program—which one mother figured had cost her family an additional $139—were attributed to a "misunderstanding" by a school official Thursday.

Mrs. Helen Hogan, serving her first school year as supervisor of the system's 12 lunchrooms, said she discovered in a check with state officials Wednesday that the system's practice of charging students who bring their lunches 10 cents a half-pint for federally reimbursable milk was in excess of the program's allowable charge.

The price for such milk immediately was dropped to the allowable 4 cents per bottle, Mrs. Hogan said. She added that she had continued the record-keeping and report-filing procedures in existence when she took office and was unaware of the overcharges until they were called to her attention by Miss Eleanor Pryor, administrator of the program for the State Board of Education.

Schools Supt. Shuler Antley said: "It hit me between the eyes when Mrs. Hogan told me of the situation. I thought we were going right along with the law. I still think we were not violating the spirit of any law."

The comments from Supt. Antley and Mrs. Hogan came as The Constitution checked a report from a Marietta mother of three that the 10-cent milk rate had cost her family an additional $139 since 1954. A second mother also complained about the rate, which both said had been in effect since the program was extended to the Marietta system.

Bakery Project In Freeway Path Worries Officials

City and state highway officials will attempt to find a solution Friday to the proposed construction of a $55,000 addition to the Columbia Baking Co. The site lies in the path of a projected east-west expressway.

Ald. Jesse Draper, chairman of the aldermanic board's public works committee, Thursday issued the call for the conference after Building Inspector William R. Wofford questioned the city's legal authority to refuse a building permit for the improvement.

Wofford informed the committee he has held up the permit at the request of City Land Agent Harry Andrews, who exhibited a letter from the State Highway Department asking that no construction be allowed since the property will be needed later for the Expressway if plans are followed.

The baking plant is located at 375 Highland Ave., N.E.

Griffin, 8 Legislators To Attend Inaugural

An eight-man delegation from the Georgia Legislature will accompany Gov. Griffin to Washington Sunday for President Eisenhower's inauguration.

The delegation includes Reps. Ben Jessup of Bleckley County, John Sheffield of Brooks, Downing Musgrove of Clinch, Frank P. Lindsey Jr. of Spaulding, Howard Overby of Hall, and Sens. C. J. Roper of Jasper, Clint B. Brannan of Unadilla and Fred Bentley of Marietta.

Griffin and the delegation will fly to Washington Sunday and return after the inaugural festivities Monday.

Talmadge's First Bill Asks U.S. Inspection of Poultry

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17—Sen. Herman Talmadge Thursday introduced as his first bill a measure to require federal inspection of commercial poultry and poultry products.

Acting at the request of 11 national and regional poultry organizations comprising the Associated Poultry and Egg Industries, including the Georgia Poultry Federation, Talmadge was joined in sponsoring the proposed act by Senator Russell of Georgia, Young of North Dakota, Sparkman of Alabama and Stennis and Eastland of Mississippi.

The measure, Talmadge said, provides for the inspection of commercial poultry and poultry products on virtually the same basis as the present federal program for the inspection of red meat. As in the case of the red meat program, the cost of it would be borne by the federal government.

The program would become effective Jan. 1, 1958, and opera-

Peptic Ulcer Victims Advised To Limit Sweets, Starches

Patients with peptic ulcers should avoid eating too many sweets and starches because such foods may prevent the ulcers from healing, an Atlanta physician said Thursday night.

Dr. Maxwell Berry, who addressed the Fulton County Medical Society, said patients who eat excess sugars and starches "over-produce insulin—and their blood sugar drops too low."

Dr. Berry said of 18 patients with peptic ulcers studied, 15 had low blood sugar. In these patients, he said, the stomach "pours out acid" which is harmful to ulcers and prevents acute erosions from healing.

Dr. Berry said three factors must be present in patients who develop peptic ulcers: (1) Acute erosion of the gastric lining, (2) an inherent predisposition to ulcer formation and (3) something that keeps an acute erosion from healing. He believes that third factor probably is low blood sugar.

Better Traffic Courts Should Get Priority

One of the most important recommendations made by Gov. Griffin regarding traffic safety deals with the courts. It is a fact which must be faced up to sooner or later and which has been put off far too long already.

"Study should be given now," the governor said, "toward the establishment of a modern, statewide, uniform system of traffic courts to insure consistent, equitable, strict and prompt handling of all traffic cases."

This is in line with findings by The Constitution, which for several years has delved into the causes of appalling losses in highway deaths. The procedure is sanctioned by qualified experts who have devoted years of study and research into the problem of traffic control.

The greatest hindrance to adequate traffic enforcement in Georgia is the outmoded fee system, still prevalent in many counties. In some of these the sheriff and other local officials draw no salaries. They exist largely on arrest fees and court costs from cases handed them by the State Patrol.

This encourages in those arrested a feeling they are being shaken down for money that goes into private pockets.

We hope the governor has in mind inviting a group of qualified experts to Georgia to make a thorough study of our traffic court system and to recommend the needed changes. Such a service is provided jointly by the International Association of Police Chiefs, the Traffic Institute of Northwestern University and the Traffic Court Improvement Division of the American Bar Assn.

It will require a great deal of political courage to clear up this traffic court mess. The place to start is with a thorough study by experts who know the score and also the answers. Any traffic improvement program will be unsuccessful unless the system of law enforcement is included. Improvement will come only when the facts are established and determined measures taken in light of them.

Humphrey Budget Stand Proves Quite Confusing

The strangest reaction to President Eisenhower's budget message comes from Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey.

The secretary, who helped prepare the recommendations, appears a little out of character in criticizing his own handiwork. He sounds even more out of sympathy with the Eisenhower economic philosophy in saying he would oppose public works spending to offset a future decline in private investment.

In this stand he puts himself squarely in opposition to prevailing economic theory and to such groups as the powerful Committee for Economic Development. He demonstrates that he is opposed to the idea of the ever-expanding economy and belongs to the orthodox school of economics and finance of the Hoover era.

Meanwhile, taxpayers can take consolation in the thought that even under the Eisenhower budget proposals—the highest in peacetime history—there is a possibility of a surplus and payments on the national debt. This itself would tend to curb some of the inflationary pressures which threaten to bring on the depression about which Humphrey is talking.

Citizens would welcome any possible cutbacks in spending but they realize that about three-fourths of the budget goes for national security programs. Surely Humphrey knows that no substantial cuts in that can be made until the Communist threat recedes. Tax cuts at the expense of the nation's security would be dangerous, indeed.

As Eisenhower prepares to take the oath for a second term, resignations of all cabinet members are on his desk. If he and Humphrey are in such wide disagreement on economic matters, perhaps the latter's had best be accepted.

Atlanta Mayor Is Right Concerning Race Baiting

In any argument, he who gets angry first is very likely to lose.

Members of 30 civic, religious and fraternal groups in Mobile, Ala., seem to have that truth foremost in mind.

These groups have issued a joint statement condemning racial violence and urging full enforcement of ordinances outlawing violence.

The joint statement in Mobile came after the fact. Mobile had suffered from a campaign of violence. More trouble seemed imminent.

In Atlanta where race relations have continued good, Mayor William B. Hartsfield has made a timely appeal to keep them that way.

The mayor urges the application of sound common sense and inherent decency in race relations.

He declared that demagoguery—that is, appeal to passion—and its twin brother, violence, have no place in a city of honor and decency.

He said by implication that there is no place for such an appeal in the coming mayoralty campaign in Atlanta.

Not all of us agree with Mayor Hartsfield as to the timing of that campaign, but surely every thinking citizen can agree as to the plane on which it should be pitched.

In any community anywhere, there is an element whose emotions never arise above sadism, lust and hate. This group is neither rational nor principled.

He who gives it encouragement becomes an accomplice to violence and murder.

Power Plans Glowing With Georgia Progress

The Georgia Power Co.'s plans for expenditures this year reflect hearty confidence in a healthy industrial future for the state.

The firm's program calls for capital expenditures of more than 72 million dollars, of which nearly 52 million will go for construction projects.

New industry can safely look to Georgia as a state where there will be an abundant power supply to turn its wheels.

Another encouraging note in the power company's outlay is that 16 million dollars will be spent for electric line extensions to serve new customers. A strong power supply, serving an increasing number of firms and individuals, means a more prosperous economy and happier citizens.

Law Needed To Keep Legislators Off Payroll

Legislators have no more business with paid state jobs than ducks have with waterwings.

Sen. George Jackson of Gray has introduced a bill prohibiting legislators from holding such jobs during their terms of office. It deserves passage.

Executive orders aimed at ending the practice have been winked at in the past. As a result, influence peddlers have latched on to the payrolls of various departments at the taxpayers' expense.

Sen. Jackson is being practical about the matter. Provisions of his bill would not become effective until 1959. Incumbents therefore would be unaffected and less likely to kill the bill.

Despite the two-year wait, it's better to have the measure enacted now than not at all.

During the interim Gov. Griffin should nip any eyeing of state jobs by legislators. If the citizens of Georgia are expected to continue the high tax load required for expanded services, they certainly are entitled to expect full value received from tax dollars spent on state payrolls.

Cities Should Be Near Road, Not in Its Middle

Hahira, which the interstate highway will by-pass, showed a unique community spirit recently.

Twenty city officials and civic leaders assembled near Hahira and gave a surprise welcome to surveyors laying out the interstate by-pass road. They also presented them a key to the city.

Dr. J. L. Parrott, mayor of Hahira, wisely pointed out that benefits to the area, especially tourist business, far outweigh the fact that Hahira is by-passed. Besides, he added, the new route eliminates dangerous traffic in the city, eases traffic control problems, reduces noise and saves wear and tear on city streets.

This attitude is a decided contrast to that taken by some Georgia cities. They work all the angles they know to get highways routed through the heart of town. They complain bitterly if the city is by-passed and merchants protest that they will miss some sales.

With the heavy traffic today, there is no justification for new highways going through thickly populated towns and cities. Access roads should be built to them.

As Mayor Parrott maintains, there are advantages to being near the road instead of in the middle of it. More Georgia cities need to adopt the Hahira attitude.

Louisville Times

Up in Milwaukee, federal food and drug agents have seized a quarter of a million "hangover" pills on the ground they don't work. One's immediate reaction to this news, naturally, is to wonder just how the federal men arrived at their conclusion.

Can it be that these food and drug sleuths deliberately exposed themselves to the horrors of the hangover for the sole purpose of proving their case? If so, what a sacrifice. Dust off a place for them in the hall of suffering heroes.

Taxpayer Suggests Ways of Saving Money Through Determined Action by Legislature

Atlanta—As a voter and beleaguered taxpayer, I would like to make the following suggestions on how more money might be made available for education in Georgia.

1. Invest state funds in a revolving account. This should return a profit to the taxpayers of something like a million dollars a year.

2. It is my understanding that each school building is designed individually by an architect. The state should standardize construction on one or two basic architectural plans as other states have done.

3. We could cut our school bus operating costs by many hundreds of thousands of dollars per year by employing student bus drivers.

4. All school buses and patrol cars should be maintained in garages operated by the state and located in strategic sections.

5. If the Legislature seriously wants to cut down accidents, it will take the State Highway Department out of courthouse politics and allow it to spend its money where it is needed.

If our governor and Legislature would act on just some of these things, many millions of dollars would be saved.

72-Billion-Dollar U.S. Budget Reveals Cost of Preparedness

In the Albany Herald

Joseph E. Brown, War Between the States governor of Georgia, once listened attentively to a delegation of citizens who had gone to him to discuss some of the state's financial and other problems. One of those present said something about a project which could be put through at a cost of a million dollars.

His excellency arched his eyebrows and delivered himself of a remark which was widely quoted afterward.

"Gentlemen," he said, "a million dollars is a heap of money."

What he would say of the budget for the fiscal year beginning next July 1, which President Eisenhower has presented to Congress, must be left to the imagination. But it is interesting to consider those figures—72 billion dollars to be spent over a 12-month period from July 1, 1957, through June 30, 1958.

Seventy-two billion dollars is truly "a heap of money." Let's try to visualize it.

If a fleet of 100 trucks each loaded 100,000 silver dollars every two hours, moving it a distance of 100 miles; unloading, then returning to the point of beginning for a second load, thus making two round trips and moving 20 million silver dollars a day, they would finish their job in 3,600 days, or about nine and three-fourths years.

Seventy-two billion dollars divided equally among 160 million men, women, children and sucking infants in this country would give each of them $450. However, that $450 per person will be paid in taxes of various types into the treasury of our Uncle Sam to keep the wheels of his government turning, his guns loaded, his planes flying and his defense stations alerted.

Preparedness comes high and there is no assurance that it will be any cheaper any time soon.

The comforting thought is that for filing bills or letters. Or bend them in the middle until the ends are at right angles to each other and use them for bookends. Leave the numbers on the outside.

I have done this with my tags from three states in which I have lived and find them very useful as well as sentimental reminders of other days.

Mayor of Hapeville Praises the Legislators

Hapeville—I have noticed with deep concern your editorial regarding the present Fulton County legislative delegation and the undue criticism apparently directed to them.

Although I am not personally acquainted with any of its members, I find this present group of legislators to be the most active and cooperative of any in recent years; and, in fact, it was a member of this delegation who called upon me (rather than our having to beg to see one of them) to acquaint them with the legislative problems and needs of our city.

Therefore, I believe that the entire delegation is to be congratulated for its prelegislative work and the people of Fulton County are fortunate in having men of such high caliber representing them.

Augustans Keep An Eye on Ike

All the way from Texas comes the story on how folks in Augusta plan their picnics. Paul Crume gives the explanation in his column in the Dallas Morning News. Says he got it from a Texan who teaches in Augusta.

This Texas lad says Augustans pack their picnic baskets whenever they read Ike is picking up his golf bag and heading for the links in Georgia.

They know the President of the United States doesn't plan his outings on a hit-or-miss basis. The U.S. Weather Bureau does its very best in telling him just when to go golf.

It's like the story of the Indian who almost invariably came up with the right dope on the weather. "How do you do it, Chief?" a neighbor wanted to know.

"Easy," said the Indian. "Chief listen to man on radio."

Speaking of Augustans and hit-or-miss, the folks in Richmond County are getting ready to move from the old courthouse and city hall to a three-million-buck city-county building. An issue arising is whether to carry the spittoons from the old seats of government into the spic new edifice.

"We'll miss them when they're gone," the old-timers are saying. "You missed them before," say the modernists. "That's why we would leave them behind."

COMING AND GOING: The thought occurs whether, with no acute steel shortage these days, it would not be well for Georgia to go back to a pair of auto license plates, one front and one rear. Seems to me the law-enforcing detail would have an advantage if it could check the numbers coming and going.

CHARGE BY ACREAGE: "I would rather cut your hair for 50 cents than do a 'flat-top' for $2," a barber of mine said the other day as he ran the clippers around the ears. He said the area where the haircut price has gone up is largely an area of demand for "flat-tops."

Wouldn't it be fair to all heads to charge for cutting hair by type and expanse, like a lad with a mower charges for mowing a yard?

GEORGIA CONFIDENTIAL: William V. Crowley, president of the Fulton National Bank, is a native of Omaha. That is, Omaha in Stewart County, on the banks of the Chattahoochee.

HIGHLINE: They say Elvis Presley will be inducted into the Army in the near future. This is sure to give the Army greater mobility. In actual combat Elvis could be great, for the enemy would never hit such a moving target. —"Bo" McLeod in the Donaldsonville News.

President Is Symbol Of Nation's Heritage

In a few days we shall witness the inauguration of an American President. That grand and hallowed ceremony comes long after the heat and fervor of an election. It does not connote partisanship; it symbolizes the kind of national unity that only a democratic nation can experience. Most Americans, whatever their political loyalties, recognize the essential goodness, integrity and honorableness of President Eisenhower. He is the kind of man whom we respect, even when we disagree with his points of emphasis.

Shortly before the election a friend, speaking of the President, said, "I shan't vote for him but I do love that man." During the President's sickness one old-time Democrat said to me, "I don't think a Democrat ever prayed harder for a Republican than I have." It is good to know that at the helm of the ship of state is a God-fearing, patient man who places his devotion to his country above all personal considerations.

But the President is also a symbol. He represents more than an individual. All duly elected presidents mirror the vitality and energy, the living tradition of our national democratic heritage. When he takes the oath of office, all Americans are pledged anew to our fathers' faith in representative government. Come weal or woe, may none of us live to see the day when the inauguration of a president passes from our national life.

When the President takes his oath of office, he places his hand upon the Holy Bible. At that moment something vivid and vital in our history is portrayed. I feel that the spirit of America's great leaders of bygone days surround the man of the hour. Standing there are the devout Pilgrim Fathers of New England and the Franciscan Fathers of the California coast. There, too, are the righteous and pious men who sought on these shores a haven where the worship of God would be free from legislative fiat. There, too, are the shades of men of great mind and heart of every generation, men who gave their talents and often their lives that this nation should not perish from the earth.

There is a prayer, written by Richard Roberts, which seems to me to represent what should be our national petition: "We thank Thee for our inheritance in the nation of which we are members, for the land we love; for the calling and privileges of the Republic, for the enrichment of mutual interest and service, for exchange of thought, for brotherly emulation, for mutual aid. "We thank Thee for the gifts of the past and hope of the future; for the noble traditions and high ideals committed to our charge; for civil and religious liberty; for the open Bible and the inviolable conscience; for the Gospel of Thy grace; for the awakening sense of brotherhood and social obligation; and for the hope of the coming of Thy Kingdom. Amen."

Fired-Up Democrats Lash Out at Dulles

WASHINGTON—The first victim of the Eisenhower doctrine for the Middle East may be Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. At least Democrats on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee seized the occasion of his defense of the doctrine to give the secretary such a going-over and workout as he has not hitherto experienced.

For a parallel we must go back to Republican hazing of Dean Acheson when he was secretary of state in the Truman administration. When you compare Dulles' treatment to that of Secretary Acheson, then you are saying that the present secretary got rough handling. That it was—for two days and presumably more later.

Despite all the criticism of Acheson, some of it from within his own party, President Truman stood staunchly by his secretary of state. President Eisenhower is more dependent on Democrats now for implementation of policy, foreign and domestic, than was President Truman on Republicans.

Democrats not only are a majority in Congress and in control of its machinery but they have been in control for the past two years and probably will be in control for the rest of this administration which ends in 1960.

So the President needs help from Democrats who have exhibited an increasingly critical attitude toward the President's first cabinet officer. Democratic spleen, nursed for a long time, bubbled forth most explosively this week. But Secretary Dulles has another count against him—if we regard Democratic dissent as a first count. The second is a lack of enthusiasm—to put it gently—toward him by our most important allies, Britain and France. However just and well-founded is their attitude, it does exist, which is an important fact.

Some persons here professed to see a reminder of this, so far as Britain is concerned, in Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's choice of many "Eden men" in his Cabinet. The former Prime Minister, Sir Anthony Eden, never did hit it off very well with Secretary Dulles, and vice versa.

Arthur Krock

Policy Revolution Is Almost Complete

In the New York Times

WASHINGTON—The critical analyses of the Middle East resolution sought from Congress by the President reveal that most of the congressional critics have come a long way from the thinking that prevailed in this country when President Truman confined the first step in his "doctrine" to financial aid for the rehabilitation of the economies and armed forces of Greece and Turkey. Now only a handful of the critics oppose the principle of advance warning to potential armed aggressors that was adopted as fundamental policy by the Eisenhower administration and is embodied in the first part of the resolution.

The bulk of the suggestion touching that section is for making it stronger and more specific. The authors of these suggestions would have Congress specify prior assent to the President's use of our military power, not only in the event of armed aggression against an independent Middle Eastern state by "international communism" (Soviet Russia or one of its puppet governments), but also against the infiltration or coups d'etat by which such puppet governments are established.

It was a reasonable inference from the Greek-Turkish Aid Bill in 1947 that the United States would not withhold its military power to challenge any form of Communist aggression, internal or external, that would defeat the purpose and cancel the attainments of the legislation. But President Truman's immediate problem was to meet the situation created by the impending withdrawal of British economic assistance to Greece and Turkey, and of her troops from Greece. He merely said to Congress that—

"I believe . . . it must be the policy of the United States to support free peoples who are resisting attempted subjugation by armed minorities or by outside pressures (but) our help should be primarily through economic and financial aid . . ."

Those who now want to strengthen the language of the military section of the current resolution, and make it more detailed in that direction, are witnesses to the extraordinary and rapid progress from isolation in the popular foreign policy of the United States.

To embody in a congressional resolution merely the principle of the "advance warning" policy of this administration, which first was materialized in the presidential "free hand" declaration by Congress with respect to the Formosa Strait, would probably have had little backing in 1947 from those who want to go beyond the Eisenhower administration's text as applied to the vast and complex area of the Middle East.

President Truman fully recognized as a fact that the economic aid to other nations, plus our export to them of military and civilian technicians, that was supplied by the Greek-Turkish and Marshall Plan legislation could produce situations in which the direct aid of our armed forces would be required. This was implicit in his message on the Greek-Turkish bill. But the difference between the "doctrines," and it is large and fundamental, is that President Eisenhower's policy is to give notice of this recognition in advance in the hope that by so doing the aggression that would be met by our military action can be averted.

Legislature Ends First Week as Fight Over Shift of School Load Shapes Up

Atlanta and Fulton County school systems.

Rep. Bentley

declared. "Atlanta gets 28 1/2 per cent and Fulton County 42 per cent from the state. We can't afford to lose what we have."

VIGOROUSLY OPPOSED
Rep. Chappelle Matthews of Clarke County said he was "vigorously opposed to raising the ceiling on the charge-back."

The charge-back is the amount of local participation in the cost of the Minimum Foundation Program. It was fixed in 1953 at $14,500,000. Calculated on an economic index, it would go to $17,000,000 if untied by the Legislature.

Griffin said in his legislative message Tuesday he favored earmarking this increase for a $100-a-year teacher pay raise.

One large county legislator, Rep. Battle Hall of Floyd County, favors the Griffin recommendation.

"The charge-back was one of the original features of the Minimum Foundation Program under which local systems were supposed to participate in the program according to their ability," he said.

ORIGINAL INTENT

"Unfreezing the charge-back merely carries out the original intent of the act," Hall declared. Assistant School Superintendent Claude Purcell said the governor's proposal would simply mean "the counties with the greatest wealth would be required to apply more of their own funds to pay for increased population."

He also maintained that the Foundation Program is actually being run on a current attendance basis. He said attendance figures, to which school funds are geared, are computed at mid-term and made retroactive to the first of the school year.

Meanwhile, a proposal to abolish the state's compulsory school attendance laws will get its first test Tuesday in the House State of the Republic Committee.

Griffin has said he would go along with a compromise to make repeal of the laws contingent upon an integration court order. But there is a question whether the administration plans to support the compromise in committee.

COMPROMISE
Rep. Howard Overby of Hall County, chairman of the group, is drawing up a compromise proposal to be presented at Tuesday's meeting.

Rep. W. Colbert Hawkins of Screven County, Griffin's House leader, said he hopes to bring the attendance measure and three other administration sponsored segregation measures to the floor for action next Wednesday.

Legislation was introduced in Griffin's recommendation to boost the age limit for child welfare aid from 16 to 18.

It was accompanied by an amendment to the appropriations act to provide $400,000 to match federal funds for the increased benefits. Both measures were introduced by administration leaders.

Rep. William Bodenhamer of Tift County introduced four prohibition measures which were shuttled to the House Temperance Committee, traditional burying ground for most anti-liquor bills.

BAN ADVERTISING

Bodenhamer's proposals would make unlawful the employment of persons under 21 in any establishment where liquor or beer is sold; prohibit all alcoholic advertising, authorize local option elections on beer sales, and repeal a 1956 act which encouraged a national beer firm to locate a new brewery in Atlanta.

Rep. William O. Carter of Hart County introduced a bill to remove the 3 per cent sales tax from medicine and caskets.

In the Senate, Bentley tossed in a measure to require publication of names and pictures of third-time juvenile offenders. Present law prohibits publication of names of persons under 17 who are brought before juvenile court.

Sen. Arthur Brown of Sharon introduced legislation to bring the pay of two members of the Public Service Commission—Allen A. Chappell and Crawford L. Pilcher—up to the level of their three

Georgia Nuclear Panel Backed in Legislature

Approval of the Georgia Nuclear Advisory Commission would be a prerequisite to any legislation concerning nuclear energy development under terms of a resolution introduced in the General Assembly Thursday.

Offered by Speaker Marvin Moate and others, the resolution would give legislative approval to the commission already set up by an executive order of Gov. Griffin.

The commission would be authorized to have 20 to 40 members from various professions and governmental agencies. Purpose of the body is to keep the governor, General Assembly and public informed of progress in the nuclear energy field.

colleagues. Chappell and Pilcher now get $1,600 a year less.

Another new Senate measure would permit the director of the Workmen's Compensation Board to retire at 60 after 20 years service. The present retirement age is 70.

And in the House, a measure was introduced to permit holders of eight constitutional offices to be appointed to emeritus positions and receive two-thirds pay at the age of 65 and 20 years service. The offices involved are attorney general, treasurer, secretary of state, school superintendent, commissioner of agriculture, comptroller general and public service commissioners.

Ike Is Invited To Make Speech To 'Whites, Also'

President Eisenhower was invited Thursday to speak to "the white people also" if he should accept the invitation of a Negro group to talk in the South.

The invitation was extended to Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon and Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell in wires sent by Rep. William Bodenhamer, executive director of the States' Rights Council of Georgia.

Some 60 Negro leaders from nine Southern states extended such an offer to the President after a two-day meet here. Thursday's invitation asked Eisenhower to talk on states' rights.

THE MIGHTY CHRYSLER

Most glamorous car in a generation

Look how little it costs to own the world's most modern motor car

If you have believed the cost of a Chrysler to be out of your reach, you owe it to your pocketbook to stop in and inquire about the new Chrysler Windsor above.

Here is a car which in beauty, brawn and engineering quality has always been compared with the most expensive cars made. Yet it is priced right smack with the medium-price cars.

Remember, too, that this is all Chrysler . . . full size outside and in. It brings you all of Chrysler's triumphant new 1957 achievements . . . the new Torsion-Aire suspension that eliminates rock and roll . . . new TorqueFlite transmission . . . a 285-horsepower airplane-type V-8 engine and Total-Contact brakes.

When you compare these pace-setting advances with what the three other major cars in its price class offer you for the same money . . . we think you'll be satisfied with nothing less than the most glamorous car in a generation. Come in soon and drive it!

Legislators Given 2 Bills Authorizing Use Permits

Atlanta Asking Delegation To Enact Powers Missing From Zoning Law

By RICHARD ASHWORTH

The City of Atlanta Thursday handed Fulton and DeKalb County legislators two proposed bills—one of them an alternate—which would give the city specific authority to issue special use permits.

Robert S. Wiggins, associate city attorney, said the bills would give the city the authority which the State Supreme Court said was lacking in a 1946 Atlanta zoning law.

Both of the bills are exactly alike except in one respect—one of them says the powers conferred "shall have no application with respect to mortuaries, funeral homes or undertaking establishments."

The attorney said the alternate bill was offered because so many people tend to associate the recent controversy over the proposed location of a funeral home in West End with special use permits.

Since what the city needs for its zoning operations is "way yonder broader than just mortuaries," Wiggins explained, it would accept the alternate bill exempting funeral homes from special permits. But it prefers the bill giving full authority, the attorney said.

"MISUNDERSTANDING"

Referring to the high court decision on the zoning section, which grew out of a controversy over locating a shopping center in north Fulton, Wiggins explained that there has been a "great deal of misunderstanding" about what the court held.

The court did not hold that special use permits amounted to "spot-zoning" nor did they hold that the section was unconstitutional, he asserted. The court held specifically that the city was without authority to issue the permits, Wiggins said.

Meanwhile, Fulton and DeKalb legislators said they have not had time to study the two bills. Fulton Reps. M. M. (Muggsy) Smith and Ralph McClelland have said they favor giving the city and county some authority on the permits. Sen. Charlie Brown and Rep. Wilson Brooks expressed misgivings about the permits.

PRIMA DATE

Only legislation affecting Atlanta which was offered Thursday were Brown's controversial bills changing Atlanta's primary date and giving the school department a new budget law. They were filed in the Senate and will be formally introduced Monday.

In another election measure, Cobb County Rep. Eugene W. Holcombe filed a bill which would set the date of the county primary no later than 60 days before the general election or on the same date as the state primary.

The primary is now in January and allows defeated office-holders to remain in office for a year before their successors take over.

Ban on Deducting U.S. Tax Called Part of Cheaper Plan

State Revenue Commissioner T. V. Williams Thursday defended a 1955 change in the Georgia income tax laws which disallowed federal income tax payments as a state deduction.

Williams said the 1955 changes, including higher personal exemptions, actually resulted in a lower state tax bill for persons with incomes of $5,000 or less. He said this covered 90 per cent of the state's taxpayers.

Bills have been introduced in both houses of the Legislature to permit federal tax payments as a state income tax deduction.

In a statement distributed to legislators, Williams produced figures designed to back up his contention. He said "erroneous reports" have been circulated about the effect of the tax changes.

According to Williams' figures, a married couple with no dependents with a net income of $5,000 a year would pay $20 under the present law and $26.80 under the former system.

He said a married couple with two dependents having a net income of $6,000 would pay $14 under the present system and $28 under the old plan.

Griffin Giving Top Priority to Teachers' Raises

Gov. Griffin Thursday gave a teacher salary increase the top priority among all demands for additional state funds.

"The heat's on worse and the need is the greatest for a salary increase for classroom teachers," the governor told his news conference.

He added that by classroom teachers "I mean the one who gets the chalk and stands up at the board, and I'm not talking about the supervisor of the supervisor."

The governor said that all requests for additional money have merit but that the state had to live within its income from present tax sources and it was strictly a matter of deciding which need was the greatest.

Bills Before the Legislature

The following general bills and resolutions were introduced in the Legislature Thursday:

SENATE

Sanitation in Beauty Shops Covered in House Measure

A bill aimed at improving the sanitary condition of Georgia's 2,200 beauty shops by setting up a separate hairdressers' examining board will be dropped in the House hopper Monday.

Cobb County Rep. Eugene W. Holcombe, who proposed the bill, said it would take beauty shops out from under a five-member board which now governs both beauty and barber shops and will create a three-member hairdressers' board.

The bill provides that the governor will appoint the three members from among six persons recommended by the Georgia Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Assn.

It also sets up a system of license fees on shops and beauticians which Holcombe says will make the board self-sustaining. The Cobb County legislator says Georgia is one of the last two states which governs barbers and beauticians under the same board. Since there are many more

Reflections in a Lazy Pool

It is indeed a wintry day to be thinking of baseball. The living room windows are outlined artistically in a wreath of sweat. The sparrow, a hardy proletarian, huddles under the eaves for warmth. The petunias that had won consistently over the frost this season have finally submitted in frozen defeat.

This day the Touchdown Club jamborees with annual festivities, but still I think of baseball.

Perhaps it is the very cold that does it. For it makes you think of spring training, and the basking in the bleachers, and short-sleeved sports shirts and the invigorating cleanliness of the first sun sweat of the season.

Of characters. Of Casey Stengel, like an owl on a limb. Of Fred Hutchinson, hunched up to look like Paul Douglas in "Angels in the Outfield." Of Charlie Garmen, a pitcher who speaks for all rookies and how he'd love just once to be a bona fide major leaguer. Of Vinegar Bend Mizell, who is still the same today as when he was a rookie.

Of characters entertaining with conversation about characters.

"One of the greatest characters I have ever known," Paul Richards would say, "is Frank Gabler. He pitched for me awhile in Atlanta and set a Southern Association record for home runs in reverse. In other words, off him, not by him."

"One spring we played Cleveland an exhibition game and Bob Feller was at the height of his speed and just as wild. It was the last inning and I'd sent everybody in but the pitcher, Gabler, and myself, figuring nobody would touch Feller. Well, somebody got a lucky single with two out and I had no choice but to send Frank to bat."

"Feller whistled in two fast strikes that Frank never saw. He just turned around and started for the clubhouse when he heard the umpire, Steamboat Johnson, holler, 'Ball one.' 'Aw, come on, Steamer,' Frank yelled back, 'all you're doing is just delaying the game.'"

—Pepper's Deal With the Commissioner

Of Stengel watching a bush league magician trying to outsmart a common yard egg in a nightery at St. Petersburg.

"And it says in the book, on page 72," said the unmagical one, "that at the end of this trick I would receive a loud round of applause."

"Guys," said Casey. "The guy's got guts, you've got to hand him that."

Of Frank Graham, the neighborly New York columnist, and his stories about Pepper Martin. There has never been a player who so completely dominated one World Series as Martin in 1931. Not even Dusty Rhodes in 1954.

Pepper tore up base paths, flung himself recklessly at opposing spikes, made phenomenal catches and hit like a batting champion. He had gone into the series against the Athletics without advertisement, an even .300 hitter who had been paid a mere $4,500 by the Cardinals.

As the fans went mob happy over Martin he came face to face one day in Philadelphia with Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis. A crush of fans surrounded them in a hotel lobby and outside traffic was jammed for blocks, all for Martin.

"Young man," said the Commissioner, "I'd like to be in your shoes."

Pepper thought for a moment. "Forty-five hundred for forty-five thousand?—Judge, you've got yourself a deal."

—A Pistol Shot in Resentment

Several years later Martin came before another Commissioner, Happy Chandler, on a less auspicious occasion. He had been charged with throttling an umpire in the Florida International League, for which he had been suspended half a season.

"About that thing that happened last summer," Chandler said to Martin, "when you had your hands on the umpire's throat, just what were you thinking?"

Martin looked the Commissioner right in the eye and said: "Mr. Commissioner, I was thinking I would like to choke the blankety-blank to death."

Of Cy Blanton, the late pitcher, resenting the noises from a card game across the hall in Miami, and registering same with a pistol shot through the door. Of the one-time pitcher who could consume 14 bottles of beer at a sitting, while insisting "I don't drink. Just a bottle of beer now and then." Of Chuck Dressen picking Walter Alston's starting lineup for him, then culling the Dodger squad while managing Washington. Of Yogi Berra attacking a palm tree with his car one night on the beach. And of Country Slaughter spitting a brown circle of tobacco juice and wondering why age should have anything to do with how long he plays baseball.

Outside the weather is perfect for sore arms and charleyhorses, for squirrel hunting and wood chopping. It is indeed too cold to think of baseball, but the thoughts are so warming. It's like sitting and watching your own reflection bob around in a lazy pool.

Colts Retain Ewbank as Coach; Houston, Washington Searching

BALTIMORE, Jan. 17 (AP)—

"Weeb" Ewbank is going to remain as our head coach," Carroll Rosenbloom, principal owner of the Baltimore Colts, announced tonight.

The decision that the roly-poly football mentor would finish out the remaining year of a three-year contract apparently was reached at a meeting in Palm Beach, Fla., of Rosenbloom, Ewbank and Colt President Don Kell.

Rumor that Ewbank's future with the Colts was in jeopardy began even before the Colts finished out a disappointing season with a record of five victories and seven defeats.

Rosenbloom, a millionaire with a hunger for a National Football League championship, had said only that he would do what he thought would be best for the Colts. He said he wouldn't hesitate to buy up the remaining year of Ewbank's contract if he thought it would help his team.

Ewbank came to the Colts three years ago from the Cleveland Browns where he put in five years as tackle coach. In 1954, the Colts won only three while losing nine for Ewbank. In 1955, the record was five victories, six defeats and one tie.

HOUSTON, Jan. 17 (AP)—The University of Houston athletic council met twice today without selecting a new head football coach.

There was no official announcement but there was indication in interviews with candidates for the job would continue.

Four coaches are known to be under consideration. Four others, including two who came here for interviews, have asked that their names be withdrawn.

Still in contention are Jim Owens, assistant at Texas A&M; Harold Lahar, head coach at Colgate, and two assistants who served under Bill Meek the past two years at the university, Jim Larue and Marvin Franklin.

SEATTLE, Jan. 17 (AP)—Athletic Director George Briggs departed today — destination undesignated — on a continuing hunt for a head football coach for the University of Washington.

The Times said his satchel of prospects included the name of Army line coach Dick Voris. Voris told the Times by telephone he always is "receptive to coaching offers," but denied he had received any feelers from Washington.

Luck Sticks With Jackets

Jim Luck, Georgia Tech football assistant, has declined an offer to accompany John Robert Bell to Southwestern Louisiana Institute as first assistant.

Bell, Georgia Tech freshman coach for the past three years, accepted the job of athletic director and head football coach at the Lafayette, La., institution effective Feb. 1. His first move was to offer the job of first lieu-

LOUISVILLE COLONELS BUY COUNTRY BROWN

Ralph (Country) Brown, veteran outfielder who has played with five Southern Association clubs, Thursday was sold to Louisville on a conditional basis by the Nashville Vols.

Reached by telephone at his Summerville home, Brown said he probably would not report to the American Association club.

"If I play at all, it likely will be with a Southern Association team. I've spent nine years in the league, and I'd like to finish my career in it," Brown said. "I have a good job here with the Georgia Rug Co., and I may quit baseball."

The 32-year-old Brown spent four full seasons with Atlanta and later played for Chattanooga, Little Rock, Birmingham and Nashville. He hit 308 in 151 games for the Vols last season.

Louisville also announced purchase of catcher Vern Rapp from Minneapolis and pitcher Dave Benedict from the New York Yankees Thursday. —OUTLAW

Briton Fires 29 On Back Nine

TIJUANA, Mexico, Jan. 17 (AP)—England's Harry Weetman, staging a remarkable comeback that produced a seven-under par 29 for the last nine holes, propelled himself into a four-way tie late today in the first round of the $15,000 Caliente Open Golf Tournament.

The 35-year-old Ryder Cup star from London toured the 7,200-yard par 36-36-72 Tijuana Country Club in 39-29-68.

It gave him a deadlock for the round with Mike Souchak, the 1956 winner of the Caliente event, former National Open champion Julius Boros and Len Kennett.

Souchak and Boros had 35-33-68s and Kennett, former University of Southern California golf team captain, did it in 36-32-68.

Souchak, Boros and Kennett had no sensations to match Weetman's freaky round, and the same was true of the play of five professionals tied at 69.

The five were Doug Ford, Al Besselink, Bob Inman, Bill Bisdorf of San Diego, and local pro Larry Mowry.

Mike Souchak, 35-33-68; Harry Weetman, 39-29-68; Julius Boros, 35-33-68; Len Kennett, 36-32-68; Larry Mowry, 35-34-69; Al Besselink, 36-33-69; Doug Ford, 36-33-69; Bill Bisdorf, 33-66-69; Bob Inman, 35-34-69; Bob Duden, 36-34-70; Jim Ferrier, 36-34-70; Tommy Hanson, 35-35-70; Ed Griffiths, 35-35-70; Jay Hebert, 35-35-70; Ben Bone, 36-34-70; Paul Harmer, 33-37-70; Gerry Kesselring, 37-33-70; Billy Capper, 35-35-70; Bill Johnston, 35-35-70; Zell Eaton, 37-33-70; Roberto DeVicenzo, 36-34-70.

Wright Draws

Record Penalty

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 17 (AP)—Fay Crocker took a three-stroke lead in the first round of the $5,000 Tampa Women's Open golf tournament today as Mickey Wright, winner at Sea Island last week, drew a record penalty of 24 strokes.

The penalty was for carrying 15 clubs, one over the limit, and amounted to two strokes for each of the 12 holes the lanky Californian played before she discovered it.

Miss Crocker, putting to perfection, was one under par with a 37-35-72.

Fay Crocker, 37-35-72; Louise Suggs, 40-35-75; Gloria Arnold, 40-35-75; Betty Berg, 38-37-75; Betty Rawls, 39-37-75; Marlene Hage, 37-38-74; Betty Dodd, 40-36-76; Bonnie Randol, 38-37-74; Alice Bauer, 36-41-77; Kathy Corning, 38-38-75; Betty Jameson, 38-40-78; Betty Kirby, 39-39-79; Ruth Jones, 39-39-79; Mary Lena Paulk, 42-37-79; Marilyn Smith, 41-38-78; Joyce Zerk, 41-41-79; Ann Pennington, 38-43-81; Mita Lee Miller, 38-43-81; Mary Ann Reynolds, 40-41-81.

Gator Bowlers Lead TD Jamboree Parade

Orange Bowlers Arrive, Eye Goodwill of SEC

By MICKEY LOGUE

One good visit deserves another, and members of the Gator Bowl's Executive Committee arrived for the Atlanta Touchdown Club's Jamboree a day early to prove it Thursday.

It was fitting that the friendly Jacksonville folks were the first bowlers to arrive at the home of Georgia Tech's Yellow Jackets, who paid the Floridians a memorable call the last Saturday in December.

Business Manager George Olsen and fellow committeemen Frank Winchell and Bill Nimnicht formed the advance party for a Gator gathering that will swell to nine Friday when the TDers' 18th annual shindig gets under way.

A three-man Orange Bowl delegation, to be increased by two Friday, established headquarters at the Dinkler Plaza on the heels of the Gator group. C. Jackson Baldwin, Dr. A. F. Kasper and B. B. Benjamin formed the first wave of amiable Miamians. Benjamin, for business reasons, actually arrived three days ago.

Olsen and company came speaking of their most successful of 12 Gator Bowl productions, and looking to even better things in the future.

"After talking to coaches and athletic officials at the NCAA convention who saw the game, I'm convinced that for good football we had the best game in Georgia Tech and Pittsburgh," Olsen said.

Of course, he anticipates—and will get—considerable debate from the Orange and Sugar Bowl representatives.

What's the prime target for the Gator Bowlers, other than to enjoy and contribute to the always festive TD Club Jamboree?

"We want to establish better contacts with the Southwest Conference and continue our very fine relationship with the Southeastern Conference," Olsen said.

Since the Orange Bowl's not-always-successful contract with the Big Seven and Atlantic Coast Conferences expires after the next

Dodgers Sign Maglie To New $30,000 Pact

Cubs Put Baker Up for Trade; Lollar, Boyd Join '57 Signees

Sal Maglie, the veteran right-hander who helped pitch Brooklyn to the 1956 pennant, has agreed to terms with the Dodgers at a reported $30,000 salary.

Maglie and E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi, Dodgers' vice president, got together Wednesday at a lengthy dinner conference.

Arthur Patterson, the club's press voice, announced the results today. According to reports, the new contract represents an increase of about $4,000 for Maglie and restores the pay cut he took a year ago at Cleveland.

Although Maglie didn't join the club until May 15 and didn't win a game until he shut out Milwaukee June 4, he finished with a blazing 13-5 record and a 2.87 earned run average. He won eight of his last nine games, including at St. Louis, and a 10-0 shutout at St. Louis.

Maglie, who lives in Niagara Falls, N.Y., will be 40 on April 26. He was the 23rd Dodger to sign his contract.

Ex-Vol Burnham Joins Knoxville Sports Staff

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 17 (AP)—Bruce Burnham, senior guard on Tennessee's 1957 Sugar Bowl football team, today joined the Knoxville Journal sports staff.

Ed Harris, sports editor of the morning paper, said "he's going to be a full-time man."

Burnham, who was kicked in the head during a ruckus in the New Orleans game with Baylor, said he now feels "fine. I feel real good."

From Danvers, Mass., Burnham is married and the father of a 3-month-old daughter. He plans to complete his requirements for a degree in education next December.

Bass, O'Keefe To Tangle In Battle of Darkhorses

Hapeville Five Invades College Park; Surprising Fulton Tackles Roosevelt

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Bass and O'Keefe, two basketball horses of darkest hue, will take out after each other on O'Keefe High hardwood Friday night to decide which is more likely to run the leaders a merry chase for the City League's Northern Division wreath of roses.

Murphy's Eagles, playing at home, figure to bounce invading Grady and move into a first place stalemate with Northside, which will be at home to Southern Division Sylvan for a non-counter.

Bass is one of the top surprises of early season, having shaded North Fulton, 55-53, and West Fulton, 37-33. And if big Joe Thompson, second leading scorer in the loop with a 16.5 points-per-game average, and Donald Adams can get some scoring help the Warriors might well be factors in the title race.

Jim Hinson's O'Keefers, who also trimmed North Fulton (58-

50) and West Fulton (54-52 in overtime), look the part of late-season spoilers themselves. Dennis Freeman hit 27 points in a 71-61 loss to powerful Murphy. Bobby Green and John Mize are pouring in the points at a merry clip. Sophs Jimmy McCurry and Ralph Hunter look like two of the year's big "finds."

Brown's unbeaten Rebels will be at Smith, but the Southside's big game sends Ed Butler's surprising Fulton quint to Roosevelt. The Russell at Southwest hassle also could develop into a scorcher.

Hapeville will step over to College Park for what always is a big one for those neighborhood foes. Girls' games open all twin bills at 7 p.m.

THINGS I'D LIKE TO OBSERVE: A college football contract which binds a coach and the college, if for no other reason than to stop coaches from jumping from campus to campus each winter like a band of gypsies... Mickey Mantle and the Yankees coming to terms, so the sports page won't be cluttered with stories about the Golden Boy being a holdout until spring... Will the Still on a pair of stilts.

Harry Gallatin, who has played in 640 consecutive games for the New York Knicks, reach the 700 mark... A basketball coach sitting still during a game... A college publicity man who doesn't want to release all important stories on Sunday... More women golfers who look like Diane Garret... A college coach hire a new assistant without announcing that several more candidates are in the picture... More coaches who take defeat as gracefully as Johnny Michelson did in the Gator Bowl.

Jackie Robinson so busy with his new "Chock Full of Nuts" job that the papers won't be chock full of Robinson... Fewer songs like "Hound Dog"... More action and less whistle tooting at basketball games... The Milwaukee Braves becoming as aggressive on the diamond as they are in replying to charges against them.

Professional football in Atlanta... Atlanta in a triple-A baseball league... A new highway to Athens... Cheaper gasoline... A basketball match between North Carolina and Kansas on a neutral court... A bus driver who doesn't seem imposed on when you ask him to change a buck.

MACON, Jan. 17 — Mercer University's Bears invade South Carolina this weekend for basketball games against Presbyterian and Wofford.

The Bears dropped Presbyterian, 112-110, in an overtime contest in Macon for the Blue Hoses' first loss of the season. In the first meeting of Mercer and Wofford, Donnie Fowler sank a lay-up with three seconds on the clock to give Wofford the victory, 87-85.

Mercer has a 4-7 record now, and a 2-2 under new head coach Bobby Wilder.

The Bears are led by junior forward Bobby Graham, 6-1 set-shot artist from Lindenhurst, N.Y. He is currently averaging 20.9 points a game, and is second in rebounds.

Last season the Bears were defeated in both games by Presbyterian, and they split their games with Wofford.

McNutt Paces Georgia Mermen Past Emory

Special to The Constitution
ATHENS, Ga., Jan. 17 — Jimmy Bankston and Buddy McNutt, each winning two events, led Georgia's swimming team to a 70-16 victory over Emory University here Thursday afternoon.

Bankston, sophomore of Brunswick, won the 220-yard freestyle in 2:18.1 and the 440-yard freestyle in 5:06.2, each time better than last year's winning times in these events in the SEC championship meet.

McNutt, senior of Knoxville, Tenn., who won the 3-meter diving and 200-yard orthodox breaststroke, also swam on the winning medley relay team to take high point honors with 114 points.

Bobby McDonough won Emory's only first place taking the 200-yard backstroke.

Richter, Yarbrough Top Tigers' SEC Track Bid

Atlantans Wesley, Calhoun, Also Boost Auburn's '57 Stock

By BERT PRATHER

Coach Wilbur Hutsell, dean of Southern track coaches, faces a major rebuilding job at Auburn if the Plainsmen are to be contenders for the Southeastern Conference crown which they relinquished to Florida last May after a two-year reign.

This year's team will be built around SEC two-mile champion Ellsworth Richter and versatile Bill Yarbrough, both seniors. Richter is also a capable miler, finishing third in the conference meet last spring, but Hutsell plans to let the slender veteran concentrate on the longer race this spring.

Right now, Mavern Parker, a sophomore from Andalusia, Ala., is counted as the man to handle the mile chores. Parker tripped over a dog while running in practice last spring and suffered a leg injury which hampered him throughout his freshman campaign.

Yarbrough and fellow Atlantan Pete Calhoun will take care of the hurdles. Pete finished fourth in the high and fifth in the low in the last SEC championships. Yarbrough was the hero of Auburn's surprise victory in the 1955 meet. Bill scored 12 points, winning the broad jump, placing third in the high hurdles and tying for first in the high jump. He'll be competing in all these events again this spring.

High jumper Bob Jones of Southwest DeKalb is another sure point-getter. He tied for the SEC high jump crown in '56. Atlanta senior Hawthorne Wesley, who finished second to Richter in the conference two-mile, and junior Vic Talbert, a fifth-place winner, should give Auburn the strongest distance trio in the league. Seniors Nolan Sharp will handle the weights and Bobby Land the javelin.

Hutsell is looking for help in the sprints from Collier Rawls, former Alabama prep champ from Montgomery. Rawls will not be eligible until the next quarter, though. Footballer Bobby Hoppe and Louis Pries along with Tom Hollingsworth are other members of the sprint corps.

Among the promising sophs are half-miler Paul Krebs, Birmingham; quarter-miler Tom Waldrup, Montgomery; high jumper Ross Wammack, Birmingham, and pole vaulter Gene Carter.

The Plainsmen will open their season in the first annual Coliseum Indoor Meet at Montgomery, Feb. 16. Next will be the Florida Relays at Gainesville March 30, and then dual engagements with Georgia Tech and Alabama at home and Florida and Georgia away.

The Montgomery meet, which will be run on a dirt track, will consist of varsity, freshmen and high school events. Nine colleges have requested entry blanks. They are Georgia Tech, Georgia, Kentucky, Tennessee, LSU, Auburn, Alabama, Clemson and Florida State. Carrollton and Columbus, Ga., are among the 17 high schools securing entry blanks.

Wrestling Shifts Location Tonight

Wrestling shifts to Marietta and Forest Park Friday night with tag team matches scheduled as the main event at each of the suburban brawls.

The McIntyre brothers will try to break the Lewin brothers' unbeaten streak in the Atlanta area in the feature match at Forest Park. The Marietta main bout pits Chief Bigheart and Tarzan White against Dr. Jerry Grahame and Pierre La Salle. Two other matches will complete both cards.

BOGOTA, Colombia, Jan. 17 (AP). Douglas Sanders of Cedartown, Ga., set the opening day pace in the Colombia Open golf championship today with a blistering 34-32-66.

Conrad was out in 33 and back in 35. Cerda made the first nine in 35 and the remainder in 33.

Some 600 participants, including 150 club members, will make this the biggest jamboree yet, registration chairman George Gardner said. He also disclosed it will be a "three-commissioner" jamboree, the Missouri Valley Conference's Artie Eller joining the SEC's Bernie Moore and the ACC's Jim Weaver.

Principal speaker Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf, an all-time coaching great, arrives Friday.

To say that the Gator folks were made happy by Tech's trip to Jacksonville might go down as the understatement of 1957. They would like more of the same and soon.

"We had Auburn down for three games, you know," Olsen said, "and we'd like to continue the trend with Tech."

Tech, it might be mentioned, also enjoyed its visit to the Gator Bowl.

The 37,528 people watching the Jackets belt Pittsburgh, 21-14, doubled those attending the game eight seasons ago when Olsen first became affiliated with the game. And each club's take-home pay—approximately $75,000—is 120 per cent more than eight years ago.

Six thousand more seats will be completed at the Gator bowl by March, assuring 43,500 for the next game.

Other executive committees slated to arrive Friday are President Roger Main, Jim McGregor, A. J. Robida, O. J. Oosterhout, William Johnston and Sam Wolfson.

Sugar Boy Wins, But Brother Bows

Ken Pruitt Wins GG Bout; Late-Comer Swindell 'Arrives'

By PAUL ATKINSON

Members of Pruitt Brothers, Inc., dispensers of fistic misery, took different paths down the Fifth District Golden Gloves trail Thursday evening at the Chamblee Naval Air Station. Ken, the Sugar Boy, won with ease, but brother Irby was an upset victim.

Roger Powell, a little 58-pound leather-slugging demon, was the youngster who stopped Irby for the small-fry 61-pound crown. Powell, despite a disadvantage in reach, came on strong with a flurry of rights and lefts to gain a split decision.

Sugar Boy had no such difficulty. He rapped open lightweight antagonist Ralph Dollar viciously in the early minutes of the first round, inflicting a cut over his left eye. Then a series of roundhouse rights and lefts humbled Dollar and the 136-pounder couldn't answer the bell for the second round. It was officially a first round TKO.

The evening's most spectacular fisticuffs came in a novice lightweight match between Paul Swindell, 133, of the Atlanta NAS and Mickey Stovall, 131, of the Atlanta Boys Club. Swindell did everything victory... all, that is, but the victory. He arrived in the ring four minutes late.

He also started fighting late. Stovall, a smooth jabbing dancer, built up a sizable points-lead in

SMALL FRY (All Championship Fights)
Roger Powell, Atlanta, 58, won a split decision from Irby Pruitt, Atlanta, 61.
Gerald Hawkins, Atlanta, 55, got a split decision from Bobby Smith, Atlanta, 59.
Gene Chastain, Atlanta, 60, took a unanimous decision from Ricky Maxson, Atlanta, 62.

MIDDLEWEIGHT (All Championship Fights)
Grady took a split decision from Ralph Adams, Atlanta, 152.
Jerry Sims, Brown, 158½, won a unanimous decision from Morris Sweatman, 151.
WELTERWEIGHT (All Championship Fights)
Riddle, Chamblee, 138, 1½ of first round (14-15), beat Joe Jones, Atlanta, 144, on a unanimous decision.
David Brown, Murphy, 139, won by TKO from Jim Cape, Chamblee, 148, at the end of the second round.
Joe Carter, 147, won by TKO from Ray Hawkins, Grady, 155, at the end of the second round.
Such talented pinners as Bill Little, Ed Holbrook, Ike Wilbank, Joe Robinson, Gene Edwards, George Brunst, Bud Schulte, H. W. Evans and Charlie Hartridge normally would be favored.

But this is a handicap tournament, where a 150-average bowler has a 35-pin advantage over the 200-average even before the shooting starts.
So instead of 191-shooting Little, 184-average Holbrook or 180-owner Wilbank picking up the chips, the average bowler who gets hot probably will win the tournament.

All 1956 titlists will be back to defend titles in the American Bowling Congress-sanctioned tourney, including team champ Leigh Warehouse which compiled a 3,034 winning score.

Other returning champs are doubles winners Bud Schulte and Jim Respass, (1279), singles king Bob Slater (698) and all-events titlist Bill Hoskins (1966).
Tournament officials expect scores to be considerably lower this year, due to difference in alley conditions at Buckhead and Marietta's Larry Bell Lanes, where the tourney was held in 1956.
Play continues Saturday night

COLLEGE CORNER

'Thoroughbred' Subs Boost 'Cats As SEC Favorite Despite Upset

By MICKEY LOGUE

Despite its surprising loss to Tulane Monday, Kentucky still looks like the fastest horse in the Southeastern Conference basketball race.

Baron Adolph Rupp's streamlined Wildcats have put rival league coaches in the habit of annually picking them to pick up all the marbles, and the boys from the Bluegrass rarely ever let the forecasters down.

Speed, depth and tradition label Kentucky the team to beat again this season.

When first string guard Vernon Hatton was relieved of his appendix recently, Rupp had among his reserves a senior who had started six games as a sophomore. John Brewer, the senior, replaced injured Phil Grawemeyer as a first stringer in Kentucky's last six games of 1956.

Further emphasizing the Wildcats' manpower is the fact that Brewer hasn't started all the games since Hatton's operation.

The key is those "thoroughbred" subs.

QUOTABLE QUOTE: "Being named national champion is like being picked on an All-American team—it doesn't mean a thing," said Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson. "The only way we'd know if we were the best in the country would be if we played Iowa, Tennessee and the other top teams."

Coach Red Lawson is justifiably proud over, for the first time in seven seasons, having one big man in reserve on his Georgia basketball team. He would have been beside himself, however, if center Bill Ensley (6-6) hadn't been forced to forego this campaign. Big Bill will be around next season, though.

Georgia Tech's Ken Owen, who didn't catch a pass last season, will be honing his receiving game, as did Auburn's Fob James when he joined Montreal in 1956. Tech's offense does not call for much pitching to the fullback. . . . We'll know basketball has arrived in Atlanta when fans start griping about their seats at the Dome. It may be a long time arriving, however, since you can see well from most anywhere in the house.

The wife of Kentucky center Ed Beck is seriously ill. Beck is a native of Fort Valley. . . . Don't blame Tennessee officials if they put Louisiana off-limits to their athletic teams. After Coach Bowden Wyatt's SEC champion footballers were upended in the Sugar Bowl, Emmett Lowery's once-beaten Vol cagers were bounced by Tulane and LSU in a weekend visit to the Bayou. . . . Clemson's Dean of Men Walter Cox, a former Tiger football star who remembers his athletic terms, was recently presented his fourth child and third son. Said Cox: "We already had a center and a guard. This one is the end."

Clemson's end corps incidentally will receive a boost when Harry Hicks, who started two games in 1954, returns from service. . . . Coach Joel Eaves, who sees no need in wasting foul shots, has his Auburn Tigers shooting ninth percentage-wise (.721) in the nation. Guard Gary Stoll, who went 8-for-8 from the free throw line as his Tulane team was going 22-for-23 against Georgia recently, won a national foul shooting contest as a high schooler. . . . When freshman Larry Malmgren, former member of Sweden's 1952 Olympics team, joins FSU's varsity gymnasts next season, he will be the fourth Olympian on the Seminoles' AAU squad. . . . Cliff Wells' Green Wave is currently the hottest cage item in the SEC, having dumped Tennessee and Kentucky over the weekend. Maybe it's Tulane's turn to be upset. . . . Reserve Georgia guard Bobby Chaney, who teamed with Jimmy Lee on some fabulous Baker High teams, couldn't resist needling his old buddy last Saturday as Auburn was dropping a close one. "I can't help you tonight, Lee," Chaney shouted. Lee's chance for rebuttal comes at The Plain Saturday week.

WHEN IT RAINS IT POURS—Coach Everett Case just thought he was having it rough when four stickout seniors ran out of eligibility at N.C. State last year. Since then there's been the Jackie Moreland eruption, sophomore Bob MacGillivray had to drop out of school and starting forward Nick Pond broke a bone in his wrist early in the season. That's not all. Sophomore John Richter, who replaced Pond and became the team's outstanding player, sprained his ankle and missed the game with second-ranked and unbeaten North Carolina.

Andy Dudish, a back on Georgia's Rose and Orange Bowl champions, announces the birth of his third child and second son, Richard Wayne. The 7-pound, 13-oz. boy and Mrs. Dudish are faring nicely at Georgia Baptist Hospital.

The Stilt First in Point Race

NEW YORK, Jan. 17 (AP)—Kansas' 7-foot Wilt Chamberlain and Columbia's 5-9 Chet Forte, the Mutt and Jeff of college basketball, are hooked up in a duel for the scoring lead.

NCAA Service Bureau statistics released today and including games of Jan. 15 show the Jayhawk giant still in front, as he has been all season, but Forte is nipping at his heels.

Chamberlain's scoring rate dropped to a new low of 30.6 points a game while Columbia's little set shooting artist boosted his average to 29.3. They've played 13 and 12 games, respectively.

A week ago they were five points a game apart. Forte moved in on his bigger opponent by averaging 36 points a game in three starts, including 44 against Rutgers.

200 Bowlers To Open City Tourney Tonight

By GEORGE CUNNINGHAM

The annual Men's City Tenpin meet, a tournament without a favorite, gets under way Friday night as some 200 kelpers from Marietta and Atlanta toe the line at Buckhead Bowling Center.

The bowlers will be battling for a prize pot estimated at $800.

Such talented pinners as Bill Little, Ed Holbrook, Ike Wilbank, Joe Robinson, Gene Edwards, George Brunst, Bud Schulte, H. W. Evans and Charlie Hartridge normally would be favored.

But this is a handicap tournament, where a 150-average bowler has a 35-pin advantage over the 200-average even before the shooting starts.

Returnee Ralston Sparks Dalton by Rome, 65-40

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION
DALTON, Jan. 17 — Superior height, plus the readmission into basketball circles of speedy Starr Ralston, equaled a 65-40 victory by Dalton's Catamounts over Rome High's Hilltoppers here Thursday night. Undeclared in Region 4-AAA play this season, the Catamounts racked up their third regional victory.

Rome's girls won over Dalton's lassies, 30-24.

Dalton stalwart Ralston, last season's regular center, dominated rebound play completely and contributed 17 points to the over-all score.

Top scorer for the home team was forward Freddie Amtower, who racked up 19 points. Further aid in the home team victory came from Julian Saul, who supplemented Ralston on the rebound work and scored eight points, and from six-foot three Bill Woolsey, who as a sophomore is shaping up into a top-notch player both offensively and defensively.

The Preparade

Hoping To Get Kicks From Coffee
When Big Bubble Opens for AAA

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

It is hoped that I may be excused for pulling for Coffee County of Douglas, Jordan, Lanier and Athens to win four of the 16 spots in The Constitution-sponsored state Class AAA basketball tournament, which will be played this year in Georgia Tech's fabulous Big Bubble for the first time, Feb. 27-March 2.

Colorful players are dear to the hearts of a sports scribe, and each of that quartet is blessed with at least one scintillant who would fall into that category. Then, too, it would be refreshing to have some newcomers to the ranks like Athens and the Coffeymen, who are competing in AAA for the first time—as also are Southwest DeKalb and Marist.

Coffee's Roger Kirkland is a lad we have our heart set on watching in action. The 5-11 Douglasite is averaging 21.6 points an outing and hit 28 points against Richmond, whereupon the Musketeers' Wayne Richards dubbed him "the best shot I ever guarded, the best I've ever played against." Since the 6-7 Richards is my idea of the state's most accomplished player, I'd "sho" like to see that Kirkland.

Jordan's man of color is Buzzy Collins, a 6-7 freshman whose hands are so big they say he can hold a basketball between his thumb and forefinger. That I've got to see. I want Lanier and Athens because of sentimentality. Donnie Veal's the big star, and long ago I enjoyed the Veal brand of play when his brothers—Inman and Willie—were pounding the boards for the Macon school. Athens' Well, Francis Tarkenton is one of the best all-round athletes anywhere. I've seen him pitch baseballs and footballs, and I've a hankering to watch him toss the big roundball, too.

THE FUNNYBONE—One of three College Park subs to Coach Jesse Shaddix on day after Constitution referred to his all-the-way quintet as an iron-man five: "Coach, can we be the 'aluminum three'?"

PREP PRATTLE—At Druid Hills they refer to Jerry Lehman, 5-4 frosh who can hit from outside as the "secret weapon." He came off the bench to hit 5 points against Westminster in overtime and another night against Newton County scored 9 in late-game to help pull out a 50-36 victory. . . . Two "sleepers" to pick up all the marbles in AAA this year are Edd O'Quinn's beautifully-balanced Northside and Charlie Hall's Decatur. This is the best looking Decatur team I've seen yet. . . . Milburn's 4-B boys and girls won 29 of their first 30, the boys dropping the lone decision. . . . D. B. Carroll's 25 years' coaching experience is paying off at Cumming. His Forsyth Countians are whaling everybody. Harold Whit, James Hughes, Jimmy Thompson, Hugh Smith and Donald Martin make up the best team seen there in years. . . . Murray County and Rockmart have lost three games between them, each bowing to the other once. . . . Toby Fountain has Bradwell Institute rolling again. Gerald DeLoach and Edward Haymans hit 22 and 21 in a shocking 74-43 conquest of Savannah Commercial.

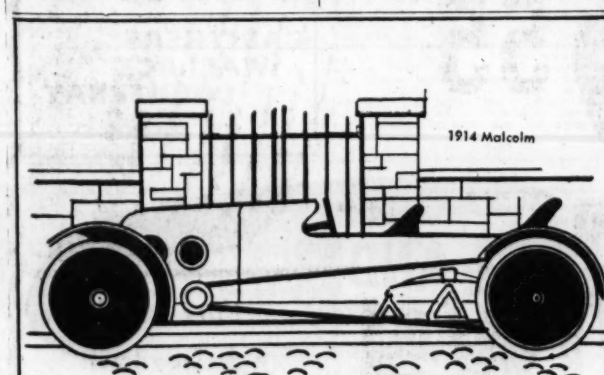

HARDWOOD CHIPS — Quiet, Genius at Work Dept.: Eric Staples, the sage of Perry, and his Panthers got even with Vienna for handing them their lone 1956 defeat. Perry cut Vienna's V-string at 35 straight, 40-38. . . . Dawson County's Jim Phillips may not have any shooting peers in Georgia. . . . A story that couldn't have been written in 1955 or '56 when Valley Point was tops—"Fairmount lashed Valley Point, 76-59, as Allen Lacey and Carl Crump hit 23 points each." . . . If everyone keeps playing the zone defense, some more stubborn teams will play games like that 12-11 Rockmart victory over Cherokee County. . . . Henry County won the Flint River tourney for the fourth straight year. . . . Cumming's Harold Whit hit 47 against Jefferson, including 25 foul shots. . . . Cordele won, 71-44, but Arabi center Benny Wade bagged 31 points, and an office wag insisted, "He must be the sheik of Arabi."

'Ghost' Finds Dominate Thursday's Field Trials

Merrifield Handyman, Pat's Regal Betsy,
Free Press Only Dogs To Locate Birds

By BILL ALLEN

Constitution Outdoor Writer
WAYNESBORO, Jan. 17 — A flawless performance by a sharp bird dog still was lacking Thursday night as the record-breaking number of pointing breed dogs—57—approached the halfway point Friday in the 62nd Georgia Field

Trial Assn. open all-age stake. There were few hardy souls who braved the freezing temperature and stiff icecap-kissed winds from daylight to dusk. But two of them, judges Gail Hamilton, Clara Falls, N.Y., and Dr. H. Clarno, Palm City, Ill., were glad they were not at home.

The two faithful judges saw a day full of unhappy dogs who ran briskly (they had to to keep warm), but too often pointed "ha'ts." Scenting conditions were cruel and there were more unproductive points than game shown.

Free Press, handled by Eddie Mack Farrior, stimulated interest and warmed the blood some with one good covey find 12 minutes after he started. He ran wide and hunted intelligently. But when he located uncertainly in a small clump of honeysuckle three-fourths of the way through his hour, a bird left and when Farrior dismounted to flush, others followed.

A sad happenstance afflicted a fine young female pointer Pat's Regal Betsy, handled by Bill Conlin of New York and Waynesboro. She ran a classy race. But when she found a covey of quail about half-way through her 60 minutes, her brace mate pranced in front of her unnoticingly.

Betsy relocated, though, and the day's best blood-warming find was in the book. About 150 yards away she pointed where Conlin could not flush a bird and this hurt her although she finished handsomely.

Mrs. Mary Megargee's setter Merrifield Handyman got too close to a covey in a nasty gum head for the only other solid bird work of the day.

An Atlanta dog, the Jambo Kid, ran a fine race as did his brace-mate Mitchina. The Kid is owned by Bob Bradshaw, handled by U. L. Hudson, and Mitchina is handled by Pete Smith. Both had unproductive points and the Kid honored one of Mitchina's ghosts.

Claussen's Surprise, owned by Dr. A. W. Simpson, Washington, Ga., handled by Fred Bevan, pointed unproductively after a good hunting journey but was out of judgment late in his heat.

Another setter, Royal Joy, handled by Von Gammon, had a birdy searching hour braced with big-running Susan Peters, a pointer female handled by John Gates, Leesburg, Ga. Neither showed gain.

DECATUR CAGE ACE STILL LEADS

Kirkland, Collins, Stephens Challenge Keiser

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Decatur High's Don Keiser kept the hampers hot and continued to lead the state Class AAA high school basketball point parade last week. But Coffee County's Roger Kirkland, Jordan's Buzzy Collins and Brown's Harry Stephens made the news.

The 6-4, University of Georgia-bound Keiser, who led with a 28-point average a week ago, flipped in 29 against Rossville and 20 against Griffin last week as his average output settled to 26.5, a figure still far from being matched by any of the others.

However, Collins, Jordan's 6-7 freshman center, was the sensation of the week. The lanky Columbusite, who hit only seven points in two previous 1-AAA games, stuffed in 35 against R. E. Lee and 25 against Moultrie — 70 in two games — to jump from nowhere into fifth place with a 19.3 average.

Kirkland, who stands a mere 5-11, crashed through with 51 points against Boys Catholic and Richmond Academy and moved up from seventh to second place with a 21.6 average on 94 points in nine outings. The most amazing part was that he bagged 28 against Richmond's Georgia Tech-bequeathed Wayne Richards, a 6-7 giant suspected of being the state's finest basketball player. Richards paid Kirkland the high compliment of "best shot I ever tried to guard."

Stephens, second son of all-time Atlanta great Pat Stephens—of old Atlanta Athletic Club fame—to perform for Coach Roy Rowlett at Brown, tallied 48 points in winning battles with Southwest and Fulton, 24 each night. Thus did the 5-11 smoothie soar from a seven-way tie for 40th place to a two-way tie for ninth with Southwest DeKalb's Tommy Norwood. Both stand at 17.8.

Richards, playing less than three quarters of the time as Richmond treads an unbeaten path, slipped from fifth to sixth but is averaging a solid 19.2.

Kenneth Bryant, sparking 5-10 guard for Dick McPhee's Rome Hilltoppers, moved up from third to second even though his current 19.5 points-per-game is not as good as his 22 of a week ago. The same is true of Columbus High's Bill Salisbury, selectee on the pre-season All-America. Salisbury, sixth a week ago at 20.5, is fourth now at 19.4 as the race settles down with more normal production figures.

Rome's Hugh Green (18.5) and R. E. Lee's Bill Curtis (18.3) are in seventh and eighth spots ahead of Stephens and Norwood, the latter a junior who was a varsity performer in baseball, football and basketball even when a freshman.

Marist's Frank Doherty, Bass' Joe Thompson and Sylvan's Clifford Cleveland are the only others hitting 16 per game or better.

West End Club Slates Dinner

The annual dinner meeting of West End Golf Club will be held at 7 p.m. Friday night at the club. Election of officers will be chief business on the docket. A. J. Kaiser will preside.

Jones Fights Smallwood

CLEVELAND, Jan. 17 (UP)—Ralph (Tiger) Jones, who wants another crack at middleweight champion Gene Fullmer, meets Hardy Smallwood in a 10-round bout at the Cleveland Public Music Hall tomorrow night.

Jones lost a decision to Fullmer in Cleveland last April, but still thinks he held his own. "At any rate, I gave Fullmer just about all he was able to handle," he said.

The Yonkers, N.Y., boxer is strongly favored over Smallwood, of Brooklyn. Smallwood has lost four in a row, and has a record of 18-8-2. Jones is 41-17-3.

Tomorrow's fight will be carried over NBC radio and television at 10 p.m., Eastern Standard Time. It will be scored on the "5-must" system. The winner of each round must get five points.

Trend to Decline Staves Off Rally

Early and Late Buying Fails To Absorb Selling Pressure

NEW YORK, Jan. 17 (AP)—The stock market continued the week's trend with another decline on dwindling volume today.

Pivotal issues lost fractions to around a point. A few selected stocks advanced.

The market was higher in active trading at the opening when steel and aircraft made some small gains. But irregularly soon set in. Then came a burst of selling which clipped prices, putting the market definitely on the downside.

LATE BUYING WAVE

Trading generally was at a moderate pace but a wave of buying late in the day wiped out some losses and trimmed others. The tone remained lower at the close, however.

Indications that the Federal Reserve Board would continue its restrictive policies toward credit were combined with some fear that the Federal Reserve Board would raise the discount rate today, brokers said. But directors of the New York Federal Reserve Bank took no action in this respect.

Another depressing factor was the reported decline in automobile production.

AVERAGE OFF 50 CENTS

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 50 cents to $178.10 with the industrials down 90 cents, the rails down 60 cents and the utilities unchanged.

Of 1,138 issues traded, declines outnumbered advances by 606 to 282. There were 16 new 1956-57 highs and 32 new lows.

Volume totaled 2,140,000 shares compared with 2,210,000 yesterday. The day's turnover undercut yesterday's for the distinction of being the lowest since Jan. 2.

Bethlehem and Youngstown after an early gain and a later loss wound up higher, by a point and by 1/2 respectively. U. Steel dropped 1/2 in active trading.

UNITED AIRCRAFT FALLS

United Aircraft was about the worst of the leading aircrafts, dropping 1 1/2 and Douglas was off 1/2.

American Telephone was off 1/2.

ARCHITECT'S SKETCH OF GEORGIA TECH'S NEW RADIOISOTOPES LABORATORY ON THE CAMPUS
Construction Due to Begin in April on $300,000 Facility To Place Tech Among Nation's Best Equipped Educational Institutions

Tech Planning April Start On Nuclear Research Lab

Detailed plans for Georgia Tech's new $300,000 radioisotopes laboratory will be presented to the Board of Regents at its February meeting.

Dr. Paul Weber, acting president of Tech, in announcing plans for the facility Thursday, said construction probably will begin in April at the Sixth and Plum streets, NW, site.

WYMER ON PANEL

Dr. Raymond G. Wymer, research associate professor of chemistry and a member of Tech's radioisotopes subcommittee, said:

"There can be no question that the new radioisotope laboratory will place Tech among the best equipped educational institutions in the United States for nuclear science and engineering training and research using radioisotopes."

The laboratory will have 9,680 square feet of space. It will provide space and facilities for courses taught in connection with the graduate program in nuclear science, engineering and research, Wymer said.

ONE STORY AT FIRST

The plan calls for a one-story building initially, with provisions for a second and finally for a third floor as the need arises.

A subcritical nuclear assembly intended for instructional purposes, which is now in the Tech powerhouse, will be situated in a large physics instruction laboratory in the new facility.

Tests on this assembly are expected to begin within 10 days, Tech officials said.

Plans also call for a similar radio-chemistry instruction lab and three smaller research laboratories. In addition, there will be a storage and handling laboratory.

OAK RIDGE PATTERN

Office space for faculty and staff also has been provided, as well as a counting room and an electronics shop.

Wymer said the over-all plan has been based in large part on the design of the highly successful and flexible laboratories in the principal research lab building at Oak Ridge.

Present plans, according to Wymer, are for research in the three major fields of radiochem-istry, radiation chemistry and radioactive waste disposal to be conducted in the radioisotopes laboratory, as well as for support of research associated with the proposed research reactor.

Reds Bomb Negro Homes, Rights Leader Wires to Ike

The head of the State's Rights Council of Georgia, Inc., pro-segregation group, charged Thursday in Dalton that Communists were responsible for bombing Negro churches and residences in the South.

R. Carter Pittman, president of the council, made the charge in a telegram to President Eisenhower. He asked that the Federal Bureau of Investigation be authorized to cooperate with state authorities in halting such outbreaks.

"Is it a mere accident?" the telegram read, "that the bombs recently exploded should have affected only churches and Negro preachers and should have been timed so as to hurt no one, yet timed so as to coincide with the meeting of Congress to consider proposals to confer unconstitution-

The following units will be relocated: 390th Engineer Company, from Rome to Thomasville; Company B, 306th Engineer Battalion, from Moultrie to Fort Valley; Company C, 306th Engineer Battalion, from Albany to Cochran; 631st Transportation Company, from Atlanta to Macon; 319th Transportation Company, from Macon to Albany; Company A, 394th Engineer Battalion, from Atlanta to Albany; Company C, 394th Engineer Battalion, from Cochran to Cordale; and Company A, 322nd Infantry Regiment, from Tifton to Moultrie.

Police Intensify Hunt for Boy, 15

Police Thursday intensified efforts to locate a 15-year-old boy who disappeared here four months ago.

Ryan Kelly Davis Jr., left home last Sept. 28 and has not been heard from since, Detective E. H. Harkins of the police missing persons bureau, said.

His mother, Mrs. Lois Davis, resides at 420 Ashby St., SW. Harkins said search for the youngster, a sophomore at Joe Brown School, has been carried on in Florida and other neighboring states.

Escape Dash Ends as He Butts Pole

By KEELER MCCARTNEY

A prisoner's desperate bid for freedom ended abruptly Thursday when he slid headfirst into a utility pole while attempting to dodge a volley of police bullets, officers said.

The prisoner, Dewey Lamar Hill, a former auto mechanic and salesman, made the attempted break at 11 a.m. near Atlanta police headquarters. He ended up at Grady Hospital, where he was treated for abrasions of the head and hands.

Fulton Deputies F. G. Fitzgerald and Fred Wray, who foiled the escape try, escorted Hill back to Fulton Tower. He is held under $24,000 bond on charges of forgery and auto larceny, with the cases set for trial Jan. 24 in Fulton Superior Court.

Hill, who got into his latest tangle with the law while on furlough from a prison sentence to undergo surgery, had secured a court order directing deputies to take him to a dentist to get a partial plate. Fitzgerald and Wray said.

Thursday, on the third visit to the dentist, the partial plate was delivered. En route back to the tower, deputies said Hill managed to pick the lock on his handcuffs with a bobby pin. After the car crossed Piedmont Avenue, on Decatur Street—almost directly in front of police headquarters—Hill dived from the car.

After an extended chase the deputies said Hill fell, sliding into a utility pole with sufficient force to stun him. Deputies caught him there.

Frozen Water Slows Firemen At 2 Blazes

Atlanta firemen were hampered by freezing water while fighting two house fires Thursday.

Water sprayed on a house occupied by Negroes in a mixed white and Negro section on Windsor street, SW, froze instantly.

At the house at 467 Windsor St., SW, Thursday morning, police said they were told a fire had been started by someone attempting to thaw out frozen water pipes.

A second fire was reported Thursday night and was again extinguished by firemen. An occupant reported the odor of kerosene.

Another house occupied by Negroes at 554 Tattnell St., SW, was damaged severely when flames swept through the building. Firemen had to heat a fireplug to obtain water, observers reported.

Murray Tax Job Row

The legal battle over who is to serve as tax commissioner of Murray County continued Thursday as Charles Richards filed quo warranto (by what authority) proceedings against Gerald Leonard, the incumbent. Richards stated in his petition that Leonard holds the office illegally as Leonard failed to file an account of his expenses within 20 days of the Nov. 6 election, as required by law.

The Bostwick Elementary School was destroyed by fire early Thursday. The building was unoccupied at the time of the blaze, Thomas Sidwell, Madison fire chief, reported.

ATTENTION BUSINESSMEN

The International Directors of the Christian Businessmen's Fellowship Breakfast will be in Atlanta for a board meeting on January 18, 19 and 20, and will be speaking at the fellowship breakfast Saturday, Jan. 19, at 8 a.m.—Empire Room, Biltmore Hotel. Its Board of Directors is composed of Laymen from various Faiths and represents every part of the United States and Canada. These Christian Laymen are successful businessmen who have found it pays to put Christ first in their lives and their business. Their only purpose is to tell the story of what Christ has meant to their lives and the Faith by which they live, and the inspirational Hope that other businessmen will take the message to their hearts and help spread the Gospel of Christ.

These businessmen will be speaking at various Churches Sunday, January 20, at both morning and evening services, giving their testimony of what God has done for them. Pastors wishing to engage them as speakers may do so at the breakfast on Saturday morning.

There will be a Mass Rally Sunday Afternoon, 3 o'clock, at the Hemphill Avenue Church of God

This organization is both local and international. It was begun in 1952 by the well-known Armenian dairyman and Christian Layman Demos Shokarian in California and present President of the Board of Directors. It was begun in Atlanta in November 1955 by a group of about 50 influential Christian businessmen and is now headed by Tom L. Ashcraft as its president and Roy J. Pogue as vice president. One of its goals is to enlist men of all Faiths working for the salvation of all mankind.

Cherokee Club In Fashion Debut

By MARY GRAY ANDERSON

The new Cherokee Town and Country Club will have its first fashion show for members at a luncheon affair Friday at 12:30 p.m.

More than 400 guests are expected for the event at the West Paces Ferry road club at which Regenstein's will present spring and summer fashions for 1957.

New creations from New York and California will give the spectators an insight into what fashion decrees for events in the coming seasons.

Leading off with bathing suits and play clothes and moving to a finale of soft, airy clothes for late-afternoon and evening wear, the show will include almost every home and vacation wardrobe need.

Coordinated sportswear will be stressed in gay colors. This will include Bermuda shorts with matching shirt and sweater; a slim skirt with blouse and box jacket; pedal pushers with matching blouse, and a sheath dress with matching sweater. Pure silk prints are invading the sportswear world, and examples of this refreshing new fashion innovation will be shown.

Among the famous designer names to be represented on the runway are Seymour Fox, Jo Copeland for Pattullo, Anna Miller, Marquise, Philippe Tournaye, Maxwell Schieff and Paul Parnes.

Daytime fashions will range from springtime-into-summer-time cottons that are so important to a Southern wardrobe, to sheer wool suits and silk costume dresses.

Full and slim-skirted, modified sheaths in silk prints and fur-trimmed ensembles will be shown for late-afternoon wear in the spring. These are the fashions that are already making big news in the world of well-dressed women.

Short formals, with white and chiffon predominating, will sweep the show into a grand finale.

It is imported cotton pique in a rose print with dark green foliage. The skirt has a rounded, graceful fullness, topped with a self-belt. At the bottom of the front there is a trim of yellow nylon velvet bowed at the center.

Wide shoulder straps, top banding and a big bow of the same yellow velvet give a new look to the briefness around the shoulders.

Emily Grigsby will wear one of the fur-trimmed costume dresses for late-afternoon and evening. The dress, in the Empire sheath silhouette, is designed by Paul Parnes in beige silk shantung and matching imported re-embroidered lace.

The stitched-down wrap skirt is rounded at the hem. The rounding line is repeated at the neckline in front. The back of the bodice is in a deep V shape.

The back of the fox-trimmed, three-quarter-sleeve jacket is bloused and gathered into a wide band at the bottom, and trimmed with a big rhinestone pin at the center of the band. Capes are in their fashion prime this spring, and Wishie Wyatt will model one in white camel hair that fastens by a tie extending from under the collar.

Under the long cape she will wear a navy wool worsted suit with a slim skirt that has a new easiness because of the soft gathers at the waistline. The grosgrain bands down the sides of the skirt are repeated on the fitted, waist-length jacket with three-quarter sleeves. The jacket also has new interest in a scalloped treatment at the waistline.

'Shy' Dancer Turned To Musical Comedy

By ELIZABETH MORGAN

Betty O'Neil "couldn't get anywhere" dancing because her height (5-7½) always put her on the end of the chorus line. So she turned to singing and now she's getting somewhere in musical comedy.

She's currently starring in the two-year-old touring production of "Pajama Game," playing in Atlanta this week.

The shapely brunette was sent to dancing school in her home town of Bloomington, Ill., when she was 6 years old. Her mother thought it would help overcome her shyness. And Miss O'Neil said she got into show business for the same reason.

"Many people in show business are shy, and they get up their nerve by acting out a character."

She feels that her early dancing instruction has been invaluable in controlling herself on stage.

Miss O'Neil's mother, Mrs. William O'Neil, still lives in Bloomington. Recently, when she saw the show, she was especially taken with an active comedy number in which Betty used the whole range of her voice and then some. After the performance, Mrs. O'Neil blessed her daughter with the comment, "My goodness, Betty, I didn't know you could yip like that!"

Betty added with a wry grin, "There isn't much chance of getting conceited in our family."

DANCED TWO YEARS

The girl with the big brown eyes danced for two years in Chicago at the old Stevens Hotel, but during the day she worked as a secretary. Then she changed her specialty and started touring as a vocalist with society bands.

She sighed, "I think we hit every prom and night club all the way to Florida." She didn't like the rigorous one-night schedule, and finally got her break in musical comedy as a chorus girl in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes."

A series of shows, including "South Pacific," followed, and she finally landed the lead in "Pajama Game" last May.

BETWEEN SHOWS?

What does a star do between shows on a tour? Not much, said Miss O'Neil, except rest, eat, sleep, shop a little, and drop in on friends if she happens to know someone in town. She knew the Archer Greisens of Morosgo drive when the Greisens lived in Chicago.

"I've already bought two summer dresses and a coat in Atlanta," she said. The travel schedule, of course, is exhausting, and she added, "I'm just now beginning to unwind. But show people build up a capacity for the tour."

She explained that members of the cast eat an early dinner and then, after the show, a "night lunch."

Celestine Sibley

Scared Of Teachers

Shortly before Christmas when the State Chamber of Commerce took outdoor editors on a tour of Georgia's more celebrated hunting and fishing spots, one of the places we visited was Swainsboro. By the time we got that far nobody was surprised that I was not going hunting. (They had already heard that guns make me nervous and I weep over dead birds.)

But they were amazed that I planned to spend part of the day looking up an old teacher. When I said I was scared of guns, a gentleman on the tour who has school-age children countered plaintively, "I'm scared of teachers."

As it happens, the teacher I wanted to see in Swainsboro was one I was scared of, too—the former Miss Anita Wagner, who put me in the newspaper business when I was a 15-year-old high school student in Mobile. I was scared as you are scared of all people who won't stand for foolishness or shoddiness in a work they consider important and won't spare the lash to get your best efforts.

Anyhow, Sally Smith, wife of Emanuel County Rep. George Smith, took me in search of Anita Wagner Grimes—and we didn't find her for a very good reason. She is back in Mobile County, Alabama, flailing more high school students into putting out the best darned school paper in the state and one of the best in the nation.

Madge Durden Bowen of Swainsboro, knowing of my search for Mrs. Grimes, who was born and reared in Emanuel County and has a home there now, sent me a story about her from the Swainsboro Forest-Blade. It includes a copy of a "Scroll of Merit" awarded in Prichard, Ala., where she teaches at the new Vigor High School.

"Congratulations to you and the staff of the Vigor Highlight," says the accompanying letter. "For the second consecutive year you have claimed the sweepstakes trophy awarded by the Alabama Press Assn. for the best high school paper in the state."

"You took the award in 1953, also, and in 1954 you received second honors in the state but went into national competition and took the gold medal awarded by the Columbia University Press."

"Vigor is the youngest of high schools in the intercity system. You have spent many years in teaching journalism in Mobile County schools. This experience, along with a group of eager youths who want the best in their line, has given you this crowning success at Vigor."

"The school is proud of you, the community is proud of you, and I am especially proud of your accomplishments. It is a pleasure to award you the P. Richard Scroll of Merit."

It made me feel awfully good to know that this teacher's work has stirred the pride and won praise from people outside the school—and yet I couldn't help reflecting a little sadly that so often it takes gold medals and the like to make people notice a teacher's work. It's like a football team. It has to be a winner before anybody believes in the quality of the coach.

Happily, her students know that win, lose or draw, Anita Wagner Grimes will get their best work out of them every time. I would love to have been in her classroom the day this new honor came. Unless she has mellowed some with the years she allowed no more than five minutes for exultant self-congratulation among her students. Then she had them hard at it again, pushing them at an impossible deadline, scolding, making them write and rewrite their little stories, and finally rewarding them with a smile and a word of praise.

I'm sorry I missed seeing the former Anita Wagner, but I'm glad she's still at one of the highest of all callings—teaching.

Tobe Says

This Is a Year for White

Yes, it's always a white year, for white has never been out of fashion in my long fashion memory. But sometimes it's particularly in fashion. In my opinion this is the year of years for white.

Our master fabric makers have added a whole roster of washable white fabrics to give us a wider choice, from white duck, washable arnells, many more dacron blends to white cotton satins, and cotton chiffon.

I like white flannel and white linen, too. What's prettier than white silk chiffon or white lace for gala nights?

Short Women Find Reducing Is Harder

By IDA JEAN KAIN

A victorious dieter's words carry real conviction. So convincing in fact is such a success story that it often activates others to exclaim: "If she can do it, I can too!"

This serves to build self-confidence, and when words are matched by positive slimming action, another success story is in the making.

Many of you overweights who are in the category of the "little" woman bewail the fact that everything you eat seems to be frightfully fattening. Undeniably, the shorter person does have a harder time controlling weight.

Reason this way: Being short and plump, you have less surface area in proportion to your total weight than the taller person, therefore your food requirements are lower and should be fitted to your needs.

The reducer in today's letter did exactly that, with lasting success. Her story, reported previously, is such an outstanding example that it can help overweight shorties get off to a right start this year.

"I've had so much success with your plan of fitting my eating habits to my needs that my friends are asking for the pattern. I am 4 feet 10 inches and did weigh 194 pounds. Doctors told me many times I must lose. One day I finally made up my mind to change my eating habits, and after the first week, it wasn't difficult.

"I lost 2½ pounds a week by following your scientific diet plan, and have now reduced 64 pounds. I have held this loss for eight months. My doctor complimented me on the way I lost, steadily and at a moderate rate.

"I felt so good all the time. I wore size 20½, and now wear size 13 and 14. What a thrill it is to buy new things! A suggestion to help others to hold the line: after losing the desired amount, buy one new thing for your wardrobe at a time, rather than buying a whole new wardrobe at one fell swoop. This sustains enthusiasm."

Congratulations to a dieter with common sense and uncommon courage.

Daily Guide—We all know people of good intentions who never seem to time their words or action at the right moment. They themselves must sometimes wonder why they always seem to be out of step.

This is one of those days when a little nimble footwork, like a fighter in the ring, will pay off better than trying to lead with the right.

Odds and ends of chores, or details of projects and business deals need to be cleared up now. A little skillful planning can bring them off, whereas flat-footed attempts could fail.

Happy Birthday, Capricorn! By next Monday you will be able to move ahead with less obstruction. In fact you ought to be able to make definite decisions and have things happen pronto.

CATCHING A COLD?

Neutralize feverish cold acidity fast! Mix juice of a lemon and ½ tsp. Baking Soda in ½ glass of water. Drink as it foams. Promotes natural regularity.

Annie Lou Hardy 'Do You Remember?' Party Set by League

"Dear-ie, do you remember?" read clever invitations issued this week to a group of Junior Leaguers. "If you do, then you're invited to a WONDERFUL PARTY."

Only the group known as the sustaining members received the exciting bid—a sheet of heavy cream paper on which were sketched reminders of past league activities. Such as the Follies, the "Gone With the Wind" ball, the Junior League tearoom, the Nearly New Shop, etc.

The party, which will definitely be different from the ordinary garden variety, will be held at the Andrews drive home of Mrs. Robert W. Candler next Tuesday from 11 to 12:30.

"Gather a group of old friends you used to dance with in the Follies, work with on store day, or balance trays with at the tearoom, and come, come, come to the affair," continue the invitations. They end with an appeal for help for Nelly.

Nelly is, of course, the Nearly New Shop. And admission to the party is "frocks for Nelly's stock." To keep her guests from trudging up her long, winding driveway with their bundles, Mrs. Candler will have butlers handy to receive the clothing at the door and then park the cars.

Mrs. Neal Baird is party chairman, and Mrs. James Frazer is the sustaining representative on the Junior League board.

MR. AND MRS. J. BRITAIN PENDERGRAST JR. leave tomorrow for Chattanooga, to be guests of the Hiram Chamberlains and to attend the christening in the afternoon of the Chamberlains' 3-month-old daughter, Mary Ava, at the Church of the Good Shepherd on Lookout Mountain.

Mrs. Pendergrast will stand as godmother for the baby. She and Mrs. Chamberlain have been friends since they met at a Baylor School dance at the age of 16. Mrs. Chamberlain is godmother for 4-year-old Blair Pendergrast.

BASKING IN FLORIDA SUNSHINE while most of the nation shivers are Mr. and Mrs. Julian M. Harrison, who left Tuesday for a three-week stay at Delray Beach, where they are guests at Tahiti Cove.

MR. AND MRS. LEAVER RICHARDSON left Wednesday for Manassas, Long Island, to attend the marriage of their cousin, Miss Leila Forgy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walton Forgy. Mrs. Forgy is the former Erskine Jarnagin of Atlanta.

ONE OF THE MOST FETED of the midwinter visitors is Mrs. Luther J. Upton, who will return next week to her home in Norfolk, Va., after a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Joseph W. Hatch, on Dellwood drive. Numerous informal parties have marked Mrs. Upton's visit.

Dixie Radio-TV Women Arriving for Convention

By BETTY CARROLLTON

Scores of women have deserted the airwaves to converge upon Atlanta for a sight and sound seminar—the first Dixie conference of American Women in Radio and Television.

More than 150 women are attending the conference at the Georgian Terrace Hotel.

Miss Edythe Fern Melrose, national AWRT president, will address the kickoff session of the three-day meeting at a dinner on Friday at the Atlanta Athletic Club. The dinner will be preceded by an Ad Club meeting. Miss Melrose will disclose "The Things Men Don't Know About Women."

SPEAKERS

Speakers at the AWRT workshop, which will follow the registration on Saturday morning, will include Jane Dalton, past president, AWRT, Spartanburg, S.C.; Marion Tappe, West Palm Beach, Fla.; Louise Morris, Columbus; Marian Annenberg, New Orleans, La.; and Martha Ruppel, CBS-TV, Atlanta chapter, will preside.

Dale Gregory and Ruth Trager are co-chairmen for the workshop. Edith Ford of Atlanta will preside.

Carolyn Harris of Atlanta will preside at the luncheon Saturday that will feature Arch Ragan, radio and TV veteran, as guest speaker. Mr. Ragan is now a member of the Time-Life staff.

Mrs. Harris and Dean Dickens are co-chairmen for the Saturday afternoon workshop, and Miss Dickens will preside.

A banquet Saturday evening at the ballroom of the Georgian Terrace Hotel will climax the day's activities. The national president of the organization will address the group on "The New Need for Women in Radio and Television."

LUNCHEON SPEAKER

Leonard Reinsch of Atlanta will be guest speaker at a luncheon for the group Sunday. Lillian Lee and Agnes Olmstead, Atlanta, are co-chairmen for the Sunday afternoon workshop that will follow the luncheon.

Workshop speakers will include Lorin Myers, New York advertising executive; Ken Treadwell, Jefferson Standard Broadcasting, Charlotte, N.C.; and Margery Fowler of an advertising agency, New York.

A highlight of the afternoon will be the presentation of several "60-second success stories" by various delegates to the conference.

Mary Jane Parker will officially close the seminar at the farewell coffee for delegates Sunday afternoon.

However, on Monday, many delegates will remain for "visiting day in Atlanta." They will tour local radio and television studios, advertising agencies, film companies and recording studios.

Fashion Tips for Globe-Trotters

By YOLANDE GWIN
Suppose you were flying to Europe, or South America, Hawaii or anywhere else on the globe.
Would you know the right clothes to take so you wouldn't be stranded, say, in the sunny islands of the Caribbean with nothing but a tweed suit, or maybe in the chilly climate of London with bright-colored chifons and matching sweaters?
GLOBE-TROTTER
"The answer to any fashion dilemma in traveling is a coordinated color scheme," said Miss Jane Kilbourne, a tall, pretty platinum blonde who is an expert on women's fashions, traveling problems and other developments concerning women in aviation.
An inveterate globe-trotter herself, Miss Kilbourne is the travel-fashion consultant for Pan-American World Airways. In Atlanta Thursday, she was principal speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Atlanta Fashion Group held at the Capital City Club.

"By combining separates or mix-matching them, you can stretch your wardrobe to meet any situation," she said. "On the clipper ships first-class passengers are allotted 66 pounds of luggage, while tourist passengers may carry 44 pounds. Take a good travel suit, two one-piece dresses, two silk prints for after 5, and separates for evening wear. Three pairs of shoes will take care of any woman regardless of where she is going. Take a heavy pair for walking or sightseeing, a dressy pair and one for casual wear."

Miss Kilbourne also pointed out that overloading a suitcase on a trip is a mistake most women make. A check with transportation officials and travel experts will be a great help in having the right outfit.
"Business and pleasure trips by air are time-savers for women just like men. Then there are wives accompanying their husbands on business trips, and college girls making quick trips during holidays, all of whom need advice on clothes," Miss Kilbourne said.
TUDOR CITY
She lives in a modern apartment in New York's Tudor City. She is on the 25th floor and her office is in the tower of the Chrysler Bldg. "You see I like to be up in the air all the time," she said.
Kept busy with her travel assignments telling other women what to wear, she admitted that she took another's advice about Atlanta weather rather than following her own intuition.

Charles Edward Reid, 48, of 242 Harrison Ave., NE, died Thursday at his home. He had been ill since July.

A civil engineer, he was a graduate of the University of Georgia. He was a member of Phi Delta Theta social fraternity there.

Born in Montezuma, he had lived in Atlanta 10 years. He was a member of the Montezuma Baptist Church. Funeral services will be held at 4 p.m. Friday at Spring Hill. The Rev. Dr. Charles L. Allen will officiate. Burial will be in Westview Cemetery.

Surviving are his wife; mother, Mrs. Irene West of Montezuma; a brother, John Reid Sr. of Montezuma, and two nephews, John Reid Jr. and Paul Reid, both of Montezuma.

Jordan Asks Handout of $30 Million

By SAM POPE BREWER

(Copyright 1957 by The New York Times Co.)
AMMAN, Jordan, Jan. 17—Jordan has asked the United States for a guarantee of $30,000,000 a year in economic aid with no strings attached.

This is not connected except by coincidence with President Eisenhower's new aid proposals. It is a request for a radical revision of the basic agreement under which the Point Four program has been working here since February 1951.

600 PCT. INCREASE

The major changes are a 600 per cent increase in the amount of assistance and removal of all U.S. control over the choice of projects or the manner of carrying them out. Total U.S. aid to Jordan under the Point Four program since 1951 is approximately $34,000,000. The new proposal calls for nearly that much each year.

The Ministry of Economy, presented a draft agreement Tuesday to Harold A. Nelson, chief of the U.S. operations mission here. The text became available today.

The changes are so basic and the amounts involved so large that the matter must be referred to Washington. It is a sweeping departure from the lines on which Point Four work has been conducted previously.

WOULD JUNK FACT

All past agreements would be cancelled and all equipment and supplies now on hand would immediately become the outright property of the Jordan government. Up to now their use has been restricted to specific projects.

The draft agreement says the U.S. would grant "not less than $30,000,000" each year, the money to be paid in full to the account of the Jordanian government by July 1 each year in Amman banks or in foreign banks chosen by Jordan.

It specifies "the host government (Jordan) through its competent ministries and departments shall be solely responsible for the selection, preparation and execution of all projects."

The functions of Americans would be limited to advisory capacities without any administrative or executive authority.

Carney Says He's Leaving Gleason Show

NEW YORK, Jan. 17 (AP)—Art Carney confirmed today that he will end his five-year television association with comedian Jackie Gleason when his contract runs out in June.

Carney's personal agent, William McCaffrey, said the parting is amicable all around. He said, "Gleason has other plans for next year and they don't include Carney. That's to Carney's liking. We think he's ready to fly on his own."

"Our contract with Gleason ends in June. I don't presume to speak for Jackie or comment on what he's going to do. Art and I are very friendly with Jackie. Art owes a great deal to him."

"But my concern is Art. He has had a most successful engagement with Jackie and now Art and Jackie are going their separate ways."

There have been reports Gleason will abandon his weekly comedy show on CBS-TV next season in favor of occasional spot shows.

W.H. Hobby Dies; Former Georgia Paper Publisher

SAVANNAH, Jan. 17 (AP)—Wesley H. Hobby, former newspaper publisher and resident of Savannah for the past six years, died Thursday in a local hospital.

Mr. Hobby, who was a composer for the Savannah Morning News at the time of his death, had owned several small weekly newspapers. He was born in Sylva.

His father had been the publisher of the Sylvania Telephone. Later he became associated with his father in the publishing of the Sylvania newspaper which has now passed to other hands. After the death of his father, Mr. Hobby took over the publication of the paper and operated it for some time.

Later, he went to Swainsboro where he became publisher of the Swainsboro Forest-Blade.

For a time he was the owner of the Lyons Progress.

Mr. Hobby's survivors include two sons, W. H. Hobby, Jr., and William M. Hobby, and one daughter, Miss Helaine Hobby, all of Savannah, and two sisters, Mrs. John Mills Jr., and Miss Kathleen Hobby, Atlanta.

Funeral services will be held in Sylva Friday morning.

MORTUARY

MRS. EVELYN MYRTLE RAMSELL. Funeral services for Mrs. Evelyn Myrtle Ramsell, 48, of 518 King Arnold St., Hapeville, who died Wednesday, will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday at Dillon's Chapel. The Rev. B. W. Hancock will officiate. Burial will be in College Park Cemetery.

L. R. Brewer, Civic Leader, Druggist, Dies

Lester R. Brewer, Atlanta druggist, civic and church leader, died Thursday at his home, 675 Brookline street, SW, after an illness of 14 months. He was 64.

Funeral services will be announced by H. M. Patterson & Son.

Mr. Brewer owned Stewart Avenue Pharmacy, 1000 Peachtree St. N.E., and City Pharmacy, 1000 Peachtree St. N.E.

He was past president of the Atlanta Retail Druggists Assn., past president of the Fifth District Georgia Pharmaceutical Assn., member of the board of trustees of the Southern College of Pharmacy and past member of the State Board of Pharmacy.

ALANTA ALDERMAN

He was elected by the city council of Atlanta to serve an unexpired term in 1936, and was elected in 1938 to serve another unexpired term. He was elected alderman of the Fourth Ward in 1950.

Mr. Brewer was treasurer of the Stewart Avenue Methodist Church for 30 years.

He was a charter member of the West End Kiwanis Club, a member of the Capital View Masonic Lodge No. 640, the Scottish Rite Shrine and the American Legion. He was a veteran of World War I.

NORTHERN CAR COMPANY

We have thrown away the cost sheets and are offering these cars at reductions of from $100 to $300 per unit. This may sound like bad judgment on our part but confidentially we don't want these cars so we are practically giving them away.

Confederate Wealth
---Teacher Rolls in It

By MARJORY SMITH

MISS HAZEL McDonald is almost a millionaire—in Confederate funds.

"And," she twinkles, "I don't think I would get any more fun out of my collection if it were spendable!"

Miss McDonald, teacher in a private school here, has literally bushels of Confederate notes and bonds in her cozy den at 1047 Briarcliff Rd., N.E. If she wanted to play like a miser, she could sit for days running her hands through $12,000 bonds and fat stacks of notes from every Confederate state, ranging in denomination from $1,000 to 5 cents.

She does sit down to "play" with her collection frequently. But it is history and people that fascinate her.

"My collection is primarily a 'friendship' one," she explains. "It started about six years ago when a 94-year-old friend in Decatur, George Watson, presented me with 54 Confederate notes."

"I became interested, and other friends heard about my hobby and began looking for Confederate money for me. I have been given so much that I write the name of the donor on the back of each gift bill."

The teacher, of course, has bought much of her staggering large collection through antique dealers and other collectors. Miss McDonald, an avid follower of War Between the States history, also collects old coins, stamps and maps. The walls of her den are embellished with items like an old slave auction handbill, an 1830 stage coach route map of Georgia and the Carolinas, and a framed "fractional currency" note for 3 cents.

Each new treasure "helps me learn more about the past," Miss McDonald has found. Her collection is not for sale; she plans to take the old song literally and continue to "save her Confederate money."

DeKalb County Car Wrecks
Take 21 Lives Within Year

Automobile wrecks claimed the lives of 21 persons in that part of DeKalb County not lying in the City of Atlanta in 1956, the DeKalb Chamber of Commerce said Thursday. Statistics for all of the City of Atlanta are compiled by Atlanta police, Charles D. McKinney Jr., chairman of the safety committee, related.

The 21 fatalities included three in the city of Chamblee and one in Lithonia, in addition to 17 in unincorporated areas of DeKalb, McKinney said. Decatur, Avondale, Stone Mountain, Pine Lake and Doraville did not record any auto deaths.

Included in the total compiled by the safety committee of the chamber are 676 injuries received in 2,349 accidents in DeKalb except that part in Atlanta.

The compilation of traffic statistics is another move in the chamber's safety campaign for 1957. Weekly totals of fatalities, injuries and total number of accidents are being compiled by the chamber and will be made available to the press, McKinney disclosed.

Atlanta police officials are keeping separate totals for that part of the city lying in DeKalb and these totals will be incorporated with future reports, the chairman said.

New Trial
Denied to Joe Chance

Fulton Superior Court Judge E. E. Andrews Thursday denied a motion for a new trial for Joe Chance, convicted on charges that grew out of a lottery "gang war" skirmish here last year.

Chance, alias Joe Costa, filed for a new trial after he was sentenced last October to serve 12 months on an assault and battery charge and 1-to-4 years on a shooting-at-another charge.

He and two other white persons were arrested following an attack on three Negroes during what police said was an argument over a winning lottery ticket.

The other two were Mrs. Margaret Hodges, sentenced to five years on the same charges, and Roy Hall, a convicted liquor runner who was sent to the state hospital at Milledgeville after a special plea of insanity.

Chance was the last of the trio who were tried and jointly charged with assault with intent to murder a Negro woman and two Negro men in a dispute over a lottery ticket which won $1,500.

Talmadge Asks Brucker
Kill Guard Duty Order

By ALBERT RILEY

Constitution Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17—Secretary of the Army Brucker was urged by Sen. Talmadge today to reconsider and reverse his directive requiring enlistees in the National Guard and the Army Reserve to undergo six months' training on active duty.

The Georgia senator said it was "in the interest of the defense of our nation, the maintenance of the strength and vitality of the National Guard and the preservation of the historic federal-state relationship in the administration of National Guard affairs" that the order be rescinded.

The new policy, he contended, will eliminate all advantages and incentives which have enabled the National Guard to prove itself "the backbone of our national defense" and will have the effect of "virtually nullifying future recruiting efforts" of the guard.

The National Guard program, Talmadge pointed out in a letter to Brucker, makes it possible for young men to complete their education and begin their careers while discharging their military obligations and further assures maximum defense protection "at minimum cost to the taxpayer."

Pork for Parties; Chops, Spareribs, Even Tenderloin

By JEANNE HIGGINS DEEVER
Constitution Food Editor

Pork is party-minded this season. It's pork's time of year to demand attention. But with a slightly less plentiful supply than last year, pork cuts are somewhat reserved for special occasions.

Pork chops, spareribs and tenderloin are party favorites and here are three appropos suggestions for using each of the three. The mandarin spareribs are served in a spicy sauce. The tenderloin is Chinese-barbecued and the pork chops are stuffed in true party fashion.

MANDARIN SPARERIBS

4 to 5 pounds meaty spareribs
1 cup soy sauce
1 cup orange marmalade
3 cloves garlic, minced
1 tsp. ginger
Black pepper

Combine soy sauce, marmalade, garlic, ginger, and black pepper. Spread spareribs in baking pan. Pour sauce over ribs. Turn ribs to completely cover with sauce. Keep in refrigerator, at least 12 hours.

Arrange ribs on a rack in a roasting pan. Roast in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 1½ hours, basting frequently with sauce until ribs are glazed golden brown and meat is very tender. Cut the ribs into serving pieces and serve hot.

Ribs cut into finger-sized pieces are often finished in a broiling oven to be crisp finger food served as an appetizer.

CHINESE BARBECUED PORK

1 to 1½ pounds pork tenderloin
2 tbsps. soy sauce
2 tbsps. sugar
Freshly ground pepper

Cut pork tenderloin into 8 pieces. Combine soy sauce, sugar, and pepper. Pour sauce over pork tenderloin and stir pork to coat well with the sauce. Keep in refrigerator 2 to 3 hours.

Spread pork tenderloin pieces on a shallow baking pan. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees) about 1 hour. Turn or stir pork 2 or 3 times during roasting so the pork bakes in the sauce. Serve hot with Oriental Sauce.

ORIENTAL SAUCE

1 tbsps. dry mustard
1 tbsps. vinegar
½ cup catsup
1 tbsps. soy sauce
½ tsp. curry powder
Heat together all ingredients. Serve with pork.

PORK CHOPS WITH CAPER STUFFING

6 rib pork chops, cut 1 inch thick
2 tbsps. lard or drippings

2 cups toasted bread crumbs (3 slices)
¼ cup finely chopped onion
½ tsp. prepared mustard
1 tbsps. capers
¼ tsp. salt
½ egg, beaten
½ cup milk
¼ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper

Make a pocket in each pork chop by cutting into the chop along the rib bone. The pocket cut from this side of the chop holds the stuffing better. Make stuffing by combining bread crumbs, onion, mustard, capers, ¼ teaspoon salt, egg and milk. Fill pockets with stuffing, putting 3 to 4 tablespoons stuffing in each chop.

Brown chops on both sides in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season with 1 teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Cover tightly and cook slowly 45 minutes. 6 servings.

Winter Pears Are at Their Peak For Good Round-the-Clock Eating

It's the peak of the pear parade as far as the winter varieties are concerned. And that includes comice, anjou and bosc.

The crop is good this year and the fruit is exceptionally fine, and there are more ways than a few to include them in mid-winter menus.

To start the day fresh pears are a delicious breakfast fruit served in wedges sprinkled with sugar and cinnamon or broiled with bacon or sausage. There are many salads for luncheon and desserts for dinner.

Emerald skinned anjous are attractive on a mound of snowy cottage cheese. And any of the winter pears may be used in this wagon wheel salad made of tossed greens seasoned with horseradish and capers.

WAGON WHEEL SALAD

2 ripe bosc, anjou or comice pears
2 cups crisp lettuce
2 cups fresh spinach
1 cup cottage cheese
1 tbsps. capers
1 tsp. horseradish
Chutney dressing

Wash lettuce and spinach; chop both coarsely. Toss together with cottage cheese.

capers and horseradish. Add dressing to taste. Wash, core and slice pears into eighths. Arrange salad in bowl; top with pear slices. Garnish with cottage cheese and sliced stuffed olive. Serve with additional chutney dressing, if desired. Serves 6 to 8.

PEAR DAISY SALAD

4 ripe anjou, bosc or comice pears
1 pint cottage cheese
3 maraschino cherries
12 dates
12 walnut halves
Honey French dressing

Wash and core pears and cut into eighths. Marinate in honey French dressing. On plate of endive, or other salad greens, arrange ½ cup cottage cheese and on it, place five pear slices, petal fashion. Top with maraschino cherry half and garnish with dates stuffed with walnut halves. Serve with honey French dressing. Makes 6 salads.

PEARS WITH RUBY SAUCE

8 fresh, ripe bosc, anjou or comice pears
2 tbsps. lemon juice
1 pound fresh cranberries
2 cups sugar
2 cups water
¼ tsp. cinnamon

Prepare cranberry sauce; add sugar to water. Bring to boil; cook 5 minutes. Add cranberries which have been washed and sorted. Cook until skins pop, about 5 minutes. Stir in cinnamon. Set aside for use later. Wash pears. Core from blossom end to preserve shape of tips. Peel and dip in lemon juice. Stand pears in casserole.

Pour cranberry sauce over pears. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until pears are tender, basting occasionally. Firmer pears may require slightly longer time. Serve pears in individual dishes. Spoon hot cranberry sauce over each pear. Serve warm or chilled. Serves 8.

PARMESAN PEARS

3 ripe anjou, comice or bosc pears
3 broiling chickens, halved
2 strips bacon
½ green pepper, diced
¼ cup buttered bread or cracker crumbs
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Rub chicken halves with salt, then brush with oil or melted shortening. Place on broiler pan, skin side down, about 6 inches from heat. Broil about 25 to 30 minutes, then turn skin side up.

Wash, halve and core pears. Place on broiler rack, cut side up with chicken and broil 10 minutes longer. Cook bacon until crisp. Remove from fat, add green pepper and cook until tender. Break bacon into small pieces; mix with pepper, bread crumbs and cheese. Just before serving, spoon crumb mixture in cavities and over cut surface of pear halves. Broil until mixture begins to brown.

Serve with chicken. Makes 6 servings.

PEAR PIE

A fresh pear pie is always a winner. Prepare pastry for double crust. For the filling use 3 cups sliced fresh pears, ¼ cup brown sugar, 3 tablespoons flour, dash of salt, grated rind and juice of 1 lemon and 1 tablespoon butter. Top filling with upper crust; seal and vent. Bake at 425 degrees for 40 minutes. When the pie is brought from the oven,

Marmalade Tops Cinnamon Rolls

To make elegant cinnamon rolls, spread a rectangle of baking powder biscuit dough first with softened butter and then with orange marmalade. Sprinkle with chopped, crisp walnuts and cinnamon. Roll up like jelly roll, cut into slices and bake in muffin tins.

Potato Chips Honored With New Dips

Potato chips are being honored with a national week Jan. 14-24. And chippers from all over the nation are gathering Sunday in Dallas for their annual convention and to celebrate the occasion.

It seems the chip began about 100 years ago at a rather swank dinner when one of the guests was insistent upon very thin French fries. After having the fries returned to the kitchen several times, the chef, in desperation, seized his razor and sliced a potato paper thin.

Those were the first potato chips. And, according to the National Potato Chip Institute, it would take a bag the size of the Empire State Building to hold all the chips consumed last year. Over 600 million pounds of potato chips were produced.

In keeping with the occasion, several new dips for chips have been developed. One features avocados and cheese with onion and tabasco for seasoning. Another is made of cream cheese, sour cream and clams accentuated with crushed garlic and chopped parsley.

One of the most tempting combines French dressing, catsup, grated onion and delightful anchovy paste with smooth cream cheese. The salty tang of the chips make perfect snacking and whets appetites so that they do justice to the meal to follow.

ANCHOVY DIP

3 avocados
½ cup grated sharp cheese
½ cup grated milk cheese
2 tbsps. mayonnaise
½ cup water

1 tbsps. chopped onion
½ tsp. Tabasco
Blend all ingredients together until smooth. Serve with chips for dipping.

CLAM DIP

½ lb. cream cheese
1 clove garlic, crushed

Several sprigs parsley, chopped
2 tbsps. sour cream
2 1-oz. cans drained minced clams

Combine ingredients, adding more sour cream if needed for a thinner dip. Serve hot or cold with crisp potato chips for dipping.

CHIP APPETIZER

Here's a recipe to set taste buds wagging. And all you need is a package of potato chips, a cookie sheet, a moderately hot oven and a shaker of curry powder, chili powder or garlic salt.

Spread chips over cookie sheet and dust generously with a chosen spice or herb. Heat until piping hot and serve for munching.

PARTY DIP

Fruited Sauce for Topping

For a cake that will really "take the cake," try some sorcery with sauces.

My adding such alluring looking and tasting sauces as vanilla-fruit-cocktail, vanilla-raisin-nut or vanilla-butterscotch to an everyday kind of cake or pudding you can put it right up in the party-glamour class—with the minimum cost of time and effort.

All of these sauces are easy to make, yet each has an unusual and delightfully distinctive flavor sparkle, thanks to vanilla.

VANILLA FRUIT COCKTAIL SAUCE

1 No. 2½ can fruit cocktail
2 tbsps. cornstarch
¼ tsp. salt
½ tsp. pure vanilla extract
Drain the juice from the fruit cocktail and blend with the cornstarch. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until desired thickness. Add salt, pure vanilla extract, and drain fruit. Serve over plain cake.

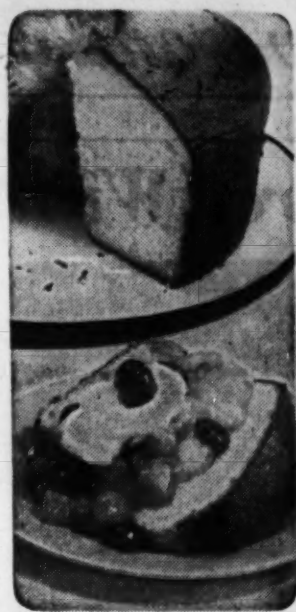

VANILLA PINEAPPLE SAUCE

2 tbsps. sugar
2 tbsps. cornstarch
¼ tsp. salt
1 20-ounce can crushed pineapple
1 tsp. butter or margarine
½ tsp. grated lemon rind
½ tsp. vanilla extract

Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt in a saucepan. Blend in crushed pineapple. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thick as desired. Add butter or margarine. Stir in grated lemon rind and pure vanilla extract. Serve over cake.

VANILLA BUTTERSCOTCH-NUT SAUCE

1 3½-oz. package butterscotch pudding
3 cups milk
1½ tbsps. vanilla extract
½ cup chopped nuts
¼ tsp. grated lemon rind
Make butterscotch pudding according to directions on package, using 3 cups milk. Cool. Add pure vanilla extract,

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEREETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Breathe true. Check "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEREETH at any drug counter.

Try Sour Cream Gravy To Make Meat Superb

Nothing better than a good sour cream gravy to make a meat taste superb, and especially is this true of veal. Use commercial sour cream from your grocer so the gravy will be smooth, and add a touch of saffron or paprika for color.

Ripe olive slices will make it something special. Add the sour cream near the end of the cooking time so it won't curdle. Another trick that helps is stirring a little flour (about a tablespoon) into the cream before adding it to the meat. Keeps it smooth. Serve Corsican stew with noodles instead of potatoes.

CORSICAN STEW
1 cup ripe olives
1½ pounds boneless veal stew
Salt
Pepper
Oil for frying
1 cup water
4 medium-sized onions
2 large carrots
6 stalks celery
Saffron or paprika for color
½ cup commercial sour cream
Cut olives into slices. Sprinkle

Try Ambrosia Filling for A Peachy Pie

Festive peach pie has a filling that requires no cooking at all. The ambrosia-like whipped cream filling is thickened with marshmallows softened in orange juice. Canned cling peaches, maraschino cherries and walnuts taste elegant, and look pretty as a picture in the fluffy white mixture.

FESTIVE PEACH PIE
12 marshmallows
¼ cup orange juice
1 (No. 2½) can cling peach slices
½ pint whipping cream
½ cup powdered sugar
2 abps. chopped maraschino cherries
¼ cup chopped walnuts
¼ cup granulated sugar
1 baked 9-inch pastry shell
Cut marshmallows fine and combine with orange juice. Allow them to stand until all of orange juice is absorbed, stirring occasionally. Drain peaches thoroughly. Whip cream until stiff. Beat in powdered sugar. Fold in softened marshmallows, cherries and walnuts. Combine well-drained peaches with granulated sugar, and turn into pastry shell. Top with cream mixture. Chill thoroughly before cutting. Makes one (9-inch) pie.

Imagine, fresh pears this time of the year!

And fresh, ripe, full-of-juice pears are a treat for your family, at breakfast, lunch, dinner or snack time. They're always popular in lunch boxes. Have you tried putting two in each lunch—the extra one for a mid-morning energy pick-up? You'll find big displays of Fresh Anjou, Bosc or Comice Pears in the stores now—be sure you take home plenty of these sweet tasting pears.

PEAK OF THE SEASON—ANJOU, BOSCH AND COMICE PEARS

Fish Dumplings Made German Style

Those hearty, characterful dishes for which the German table is famous—dumplings, thick savory soups, sweet and sour meats—are just right for American family appetites now keened by January's cold weather.

Pepper is the key flavor in these recipes for fish dumplings with caper sauce, German potato soup and pork filets in sour cream, because it is important to German cookery. The pepper used should be the ground white pepper.

White pepper is the kernel of the peppercorn or pepper berry, which has been allowed to ripen on the vine. It is milder than black pepper but just as invitingly aromatic. Black pepper is the whole peppercorn, picked unripened and then dried.

FISH DUMPLINGS
1 pound fish filets
¼ cup chopped onions
1½ tbsps. butter or margarine
2½ cups soft bread crumbs
2 tbsps. minced celery
1 tsp. dried parsley flakes
1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. ground white pepper
3 tbsps. grated Parmesan - or sharp American cheese
1 egg, beaten
½ cup milk

Wipe fish with a clean, damp cloth and put through a food chopper using the medium blade. Saute onions in butter or margarine and add to the fish. Add bread crumbs, celery, parsley, 1 teaspoon salt, white pepper, grated cheese and toss lightly. Add egg and milk and mix well. Shape into 1½-inch balls. Bring 2 quarts water and remaining 1 teaspoon salt to boiling point. Add dumplings. Cover tightly and cook until dumplings rise to the surface about 10 minutes. Remove from water. Drain. Garnish with dried parsley flakes. Serve hot with caper sauce, 5 servings.

PORK FILETS WITH SOUR CREAM
1½ lbs. pork filets
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. ground white pepper
2 tbsps. flour
½ cup sour cream
Trim off excess fat from pork filets and cut into 2-inch cubes. Brown on both sides in butter or margarine.

Add salt, pepper and flour. Cover and cook over low heat 20 minutes or until tender. Add sour cream and heat. Serve hot, 4 servings.

CABBAGE WITH SOUR CREAM
1 medium head cabbage (2 to 2½ pounds)
½ cup chicken or beef stock
1 tsp. salt
1 slice of a large onion
1 tsp. butter or margarine
½ cup sour cream
1½ tbsps. flour
1 tsp. ground white pepper
1 tsp. sugar
Pork sausages
Remove the coarse outer leaves from cabbage. Save them for salads. Shred the cabbage coarsely and place in a saucepan with stock and salt. Saute onion in butter or margarine until limp. Add to cabbage. Cover and cook slowly until cabbage is tender. Add sour cream. Blend in flour, white pepper, nutmeg and sugar. Heat. Serve with pork sausages, 5 servings.

CAPER SAUCE
1 tsp. flour
½ tsp. ground white pepper
1 tsp. capers
2 tbsps. tomato sauce

New Ways to Please Meat, Potato Lovers

The variations you can give to a baked potato would fill a book.

BAKING POTATOES

1. Select potatoes of uniform size so that they bake in about the same length of time. Idahos for baking vary in size from large to very large. A good average size is 5 to 6 inches. Also use a size according to its place in the menu—a partner on the dinner plate or a meal in itself.

2. Scrub potatoes so that the skins may be eaten. Like the skin crunchy-crisp? Leave as is. Prefer skin soft? Brush with oil or melted bacon drippings.

3. Place on shallow pan or rack in 425-degree (hot) oven, 40 to 60 minutes, depending on size. To test for doneness: using a paper towel or holder, squeeze the potato gently.

4. When soft, roll each potato in the folds of a towel. If the skin does not crack open, cut a small cross in top of each and press gently. Always serve at once, piping hot. Eat jacket and all.

5. If dinner is delayed, scoop out centers of potatoes, prepare as for mashed potatoes. Return to the potato shell. Heat

SHORT-ORDER POTATOES

Cut in half lengthwise. Score the tops in half-inch squares, making cuts $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch deep. Brush the cut side generously with shortening or oil. Place cut side down on baking sheet. Coat jackets, too. Bake in a 425-degree (hot) oven about 25 minutes or until tender. Turn cut side up. Spread with butter. Return to oven to brown lightly.

CHEESE DREAMS

Score hot baked potato with 3 or 4 cuts across top. Tuck in a piece of butter, a slice of a good melting cheese or a spoonful of a sharp cheddar spread into each cut. Return to oven for about 5 minutes or until cheese melts.

DEVILED STUFFED POTATOES

Cut hot baked potato crosswise. Spoon out and mash, adding deviled ham, milk, butter, seasonings to taste. Refill shells. Put in hot oven to heat and brown tops.

MAIN COURSE BAKER

When baked potatoes are tender, slit potatoes lengthwise, then twice crosswise, using $\frac{1}{2}$ inch deep cuts. Press open. Spoon on creamed dried beef, tuna, ham, or chicken. Potato too big for a serving? Split in half lengthwise and spoon on creamed mixture.

TOPPINGS

Using your Lazy Susan, a large chop plate or tray, arrange on it a plate of butter squares; little bowls of crisp hot bacon bits or well-browned salt pork squares; shredded sharp-aged natural cheddar cheese; thick dairy-sour cream dressed with cut chives or cream cheese whipped to a fluff with a bit of milk; green onions and their tops sliced thin; minced parsley whipped into softened butter (add a bit of lemon juice and grated rind if you like. Good with fish dishes.)

The perfect partner to a meal starring baked Idahos—stuffed or served with a choice of toppings—is a big basket of piping hot French Fried Onion Rings, featuring another of Idaho's famous foods—Sweet Spanish Onions.

These very large creamy-white or yellow-skinned onions slice into even rings and need no soaking in milk because of their mild sweet flavor.

FRENCH FRIED ONIONS

Combine in sifter 1 cup sifted flour, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt. Beat 1 egg until thick and lemon-colored. Add $\frac{1}{4}$ cup milk. Stir in sifted ingredients, beating until smooth.

Slice 3 large unpeeled Idaho Sweet Spanish Onions about $\frac{1}{4}$ inch thick. This makes for easier removal of skins. Peel slices. Separate into rings.

Dip a few onion rings at a time into the batter so that each ring is completely covered. Drop the batter-covered onion rings, a few at a time, into shortening or oil, about 3 inches deep in deep frying kettle or deep skillet and heated to 375 degrees.

Fry until golden brown. Lift out with a two-tined fork, drain on paper toweling. Sprinkle with salt. Serve hot.

These fried rings may be kept hot by placing in a 325 degree F. (moderately slow) oven until all the onion rings are cooked.

Appetizer Of Peaches, Grapefruit

The tartness of grapefruit is complemented nicely with sweet canned cling peach slices. Alternate peaches with grapefruit sections in grapefruit shells, drizzle with a little honey, and broil until thoroughly heated and browned. Golden gate appetizer in an elegant starter for dinner, or perfect for a company Sunday brunch.

GOLDEN GATE APPETIZER

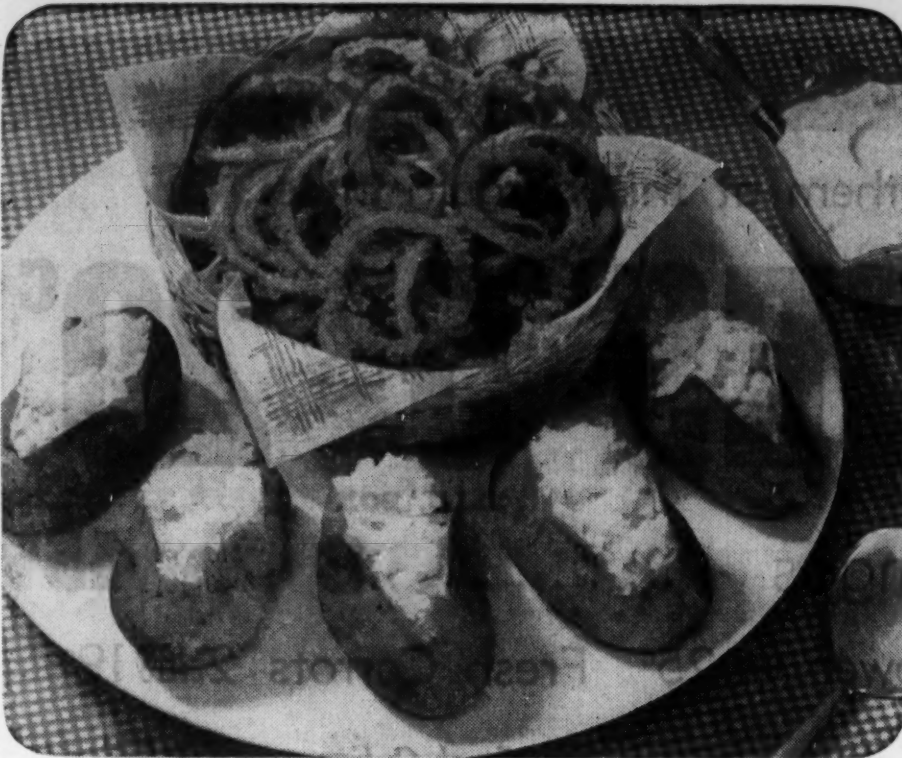

3 large grapefruit
1 cup canned cling peach slices
6 maraschino cherries
2 tbsps. honey

1. Halve grapefruit. 2. Run sharp knife around fruit just inside skin and remove pulp in one piece. 3. Separate segments from membrane. Cut peach slices in half crosswise. 4. Place fruit in shells, alternating grapefruit segments with peach slices. 5. Top with cherry. Drizzle honey over each filled grapefruit. 6. Place in pan containing $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch water. 7. Broil 3 inches from heat about 15 minutes, or until fruit is thoroughly heated and tops are browned. Makes 6 servings.

Handle Vegetables With Care And Serve in Variety of Ways

The reward for care and attention in preparing vegetables is very great. And the span between what is really good and what isn't is a very big one.

Lima beans are particularly challenging. Their pleasing taste, texture and color are grown in and can be literally cooked out.

There are two distinct kinds of lima beans. The baby limas that have thin skins also have a rather waxy consistency.

Others are thick-skinned, mealy and more pronounced in flavor. And both are good served alone or in combination with many other foods. Here are a few examples.

CHICKEN AND LIMA CASSEROLE

4 chicken breasts
1 chicken bouillon cube
2 packages frozen lima beans
2 tbsps. butter
2 tbsps. flour
Pour water in kettle to depth of $\frac{1}{2}$ inch. Lightly sprinkle chicken breasts with salt; place on rack in kettle (out of water). Bring water to boil; cover kettle. Poach chicken 35 minutes or until fork-tender. Drain and remove chicken.

Measure stock in kettle; if necessary, add water to make two cups. Add bouillon cube, then stir in butter and flour which have been mixed to a paste. Simmer over low heat just until thickened. Remove from heat.

Carefully bone chicken breasts, separating bones from meat with tip of paring knife. (Be sure to remove wishbone.) Meanwhile, following label directions, cook limas five minutes, drain. Rub 1 cup limas through strainer; stir into stock mixture.

In 2-quart casserole, arrange chicken breasts and partially cooked whole limas; pour sauce over all. Bake, covered, at 350 degrees for 15 minutes or until bubbling. Makes six servings.

LIMA LUNCHEON SALAD

1 package frozen limas
3 tbsps. salad oil
1 tsp. vinegar
1 tsp. grated onion
1 tsp. salt
Dash paprika
Dash pepper
3 tbsps. mayonnaise
1 hard-cooked egg, coarsely chopped
Cook limas as package label directs; cool in cooking liquid, then refrigerate until well chilled. Drain.

At serving time, make dressing: combine oil with vinegar, onion, salt, paprika, pepper; with egg beater, beat in mayonnaise until well blended.

Combine drained limas with egg and dressing; toss lightly. Serve on lettuce. Delightful to serve with cold cuts. Makes 4 servings.

BAKED VEAL AND LIMA CURRY

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup flour
1 tsp. salt
 $\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. pepper
2 lbs. boneless veal, cut into 1-inch cubes
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup butter
3 medium onions, sliced
1 4-oz. can sliced mushrooms, undrained
 $\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. curry powder
 $\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. salt
2 packages frozen lima beans, thawed just enough to separate (5 to 10 minutes).

In paper bag, combine flour, 1 teaspoon salt, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon pepper. Add veal. Shake bag well to coat veal with flour mixture. In large skillet, melt butter; add veal; brown veal well on all sides over medium heat. As veal browns, remove to 3-qt. casserole.

In butter left in skillet, saute onions until transparent. To mushrooms and liquid, add water to make $1\frac{1}{4}$ cups; add to onions. Stir in curry powder, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt. Add all to veal; stir to mix.

Cover casserole; bake at 350 degrees, 1 hour. Then stir limas into veal mixture; cover casserole; bake 1 hour longer, or until limas are tender. If desired, garnish with minced parsley or crispy chow-mein noodles. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

CHOCOLATE COOKIES
With Mince Meat

Chocolate Mince Meat Cookies

With a good supply of cookies on hand, there's no need to worry about unexpected demands for refreshments.

Good refreshment cookies are made with mince meat. They are easy, delicious and satisfying.

The flavor and fruitiness of these cookies are supplied by mince meat. One recipe makes four dozen big cookies.

With a glass of milk, they are ideal for after-school pickups for hungry youngsters.

With a cup of tea or coffee they are a welcome offering to hungry neighbors who drop in for cards or conversation. Plain or chocolate flavored they are delicious.

CHOCOLATE DROP COOKIES
 1/2 cup softened butter, margarine or vegetable shortening
 1/4 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
 1 egg, slightly beaten
 2 squares (2 oz.) unsweetened chocolate, melted
 1 1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
 1/2 tsp. baking soda
 1/2 tsp. baking powder
 1/2 cup milk
 1 tsp. vanilla extract
 1 3-ounce condensed package mince meat broken into small pieces

Soften butter, margarine or vegetable shortening. Add brown sugar and cream until fluffy. Add egg and blend well. Sift flour with baking soda and baking powder. Add vanilla to milk. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk and vanilla. Beat well forming a soft dough.

You can thicken the rich pan drippings slightly if you prefer a heavier gravy.

BAKED SESAME CHICKEN
 1 (3-pound) frying chicken
 1/2 cup sifted all-purpose flour
 1 tsp. salt
 1 tsp. paprika
 1/2 tsp. pepper
 1/2 cup oil
 1/2 tsp. instant minced onion or finely chopped small raw onion (1/4 cup)
 1/2 cup California Sauterne or other white table wine
 1 tbsp. sesame seeds

Have chicken cut up for frying. Sift flour with salt, paprika and pepper, and dip chicken pieces in it. Brown slowly in heated oil. Sprinkle with onion, pour wine over, and sprinkle with sesame seeds. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 30 minutes, until tender. Thicken drippings with a little cornstarch if desired. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

LUNCHEON SALAD OF SHRIMP AND ASPARAGUS
Seasoned With a French Dressing and Served With Parsleyed Corn

Shrimp and Asparagus Tossed in Dressing

There's appetizing elegance in this luncheon: canned shrimp and asparagus are well seasoned with a special French dressing as they combine in a tempting salad platter.

Parsleyed corn, using popular canned whole kernel corn, makes an ideal menu-mate.

SHRIMP AND ASPARAGUS SALAD

1/2 cup French dressing
 1/2 cup mayonnaise
 1 tsp. lemon juice
 1 tsp. prepared mustard
 2 cans (4 1/2 to 6 1/2 oz. each) shrimp
 3 hard-cooked eggs
 1/2 cup thinly sliced celery
 1 can (14 1/2 oz.) asparagus spears
 Salad greens
 Radish roses

Combine 2 tablespoons French dressing with mayonnaise, lemon juice and prepared mustard. Add drained shrimp, coarsely chopped eggs and celery; mix gently. Chill. Pour remaining French dressing over drained asparagus; chill. Arrange shrimp salad on greens and drained asparagus around it. Garnish with radish roses. Four servings.

PARSLEYED CORN

1 can (12 or 16 oz.) whole kernel corn
 1 tsp. butter or margarine
 2 tbsps. minced parsley
 Salt, pepper

Combine 1/4 cup liquid drained from corn, the drained corn, butter and parsley; heat. Season to taste. Four to five servings.

Add Sherry When Broiling Ham Steak

The next time you are pan-broiling a ham steak, add to the skillet during the searing two tablespoons of full-flavored amontillado sherry or one of the sweeter olorosos, which are often called cream or brown sherrys. The sherrys from Jerez add to the nuttiness of ham and complement its sweet savor.

bread. Top each with another bread slice. Beat egg lightly and blend in milk, butter and salt. Turn into flat dish. Dip both sides of each sandwich quickly in egg mixture and place on greased baking sheet. Place under broiler, about 5 inches from heat. Broil until well browned. Turn and brown second side. Watch closely as sandwiches cook quickly. Makes 4 thick sandwiches.

cheese and ripe olive combination.

STEAL-THE-SHOW SANDWICHES

2 frankfurters
 1/2 cup ground American cheese
 1/2 cup chopped ripe olives
 2 tbsps. mayonnaise
 8 slices bread
 1 egg
 1/2 cup milk
 2 tbsps. melted butter or margarine
 1/4 tsp. salt

Grind frankfurters. Mix frankfurters, cheese, olives and mayonnaise. Spread on 4 slices

Start this 30-day Grapefruit Plan today!

1. For breakfast, be sure your fruit is fresh grapefruit. No other fruit is so low in calories and so high in the vitamin C you need daily. Gives you important bioflavonoids and minerals, too.

2. At lunch and dinner, avoid heavy desserts and rich salads... have fresh grapefruit instead. Serve it in any one of many delicious ways—in sections, in halves, or as fresh-squeezed juice.

3. Fill that "hunger gap" between meals with half a grapefruit, or drink the delicious fresh juice in place of snacks or drinks made with sugar.

Yes, just follow this sensible 30-day grapefruit plan and see if you don't look better, feel better after just one month. See if you haven't helped your health while you've watched your weight!

What's more, you'll soon find that luscious, juicy-fresh grapefruit has grown to be your favorite fruit! No other fruit has such sparkling "perk-up" flavor. No other fruit tastes so good... and is so good for you!

GRAPEFRUIT from FLORIDA is back in season!

OLD SOUTH DINNER

Glazed Pork Roast served with new Red Potatoes boiled in their jackets and tender green pole beans. For the best pork roast you have ever eaten, try this trick: Make several gashes in the meat and insert slivers of garlic. Place meat on a rack in a shallow open pan in a slow oven, 325 degrees. Allow 3 1/4 hours for a 5-lb. roast. Meat thermometer should register 185 degrees. When meat is half done, cover with glaze made by combining 3/4 cup sifted brown sugar, 3 tablespoons vinegar, 1 teaspoon dry mustard and 1/8 teaspoon ground cloves or ginger. During roasting, spoon drippings over meat several times.

TIMBALES, A WAY TO MAKE SEAFOOD SPECIAL
Tuna Is Baked Timbale Fashion and Served With a Mustard Sauce

Favorite Punch Combines Nectar With Base of Tea

Some of the best punches are made with tea as the base. Besides having good flavor, they usually are less expensive. This "Old-Fashioned Punch" combines chilled nectar with lemon juice and tea. It's a real thirst quencher.

OLD-FASHIONED PUNCH

3 tbsps. black tea
3 cups boiling water
5 or 6 whole cloves
2 (12-ounce) cans chilled apricot whole fruit nectar
1/4 cup lemon juice
5 tbsps. sugar
Few grains salt
Steep tea in boiling water with whole cloves 3 minutes. Strain and combine with remaining ingredients, stirring to dissolve sugar. Chill thoroughly and serve over ice. Makes 1 1/4 quarts.

Sauced Tuna Timbales Tasty Sea Food Dish

Everyone seems to be interested in different ways to use tuna, and tuna timbales is certainly an excellent change. The savory mixture of tuna, peas, soft bread crumbs and seasonings is baked in custard cups for individual servings.

At serving time the timbales are easily unmolded and ready for a smooth mustard sauce to be spooned over them.

Evaporated milk and an egg also are in these timbales to act as binders as well as for flavor and to keep them delightfully moist throughout baking. The timbales hold their shape well, but have a nice light texture when they're broken into.

The mustard sauce that goes with the timbales also uses evaporated milk so it's smooth and creamy. The pretty yellow of the sauce with flecks of red pimiento in it adds lively color to the timbales.

TUNA TIMBALES

1 can tuna (6 1/2 or 7 oz.), drained
1 cup canned peas, drained
2 1/2 cups soft bread crumbs
1/2 cup chopped parsley
1 tbsps. chopped pimiento
1 tbsps. lemon juice
1 tsp. grated onion
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. pepper
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup evaporated milk

Using a fork, flake drained tuna into a medium size mixing bowl. Drain peas, saving liquid for the mustard sauce. Add peas, bread crumbs, parsley and pimiento to the tuna. Sprinkle lemon juice, onion and seasonings over tuna mixture and toss lightly with a fork to mix. Blend the egg and milk together, then mix well into the tuna mixture. Spoon mixture into 6 lightly buttered custard cups and bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) for about 30 minutes, until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean. When ready to serve, unmold and serve with mustard sauce. Makes 6 servings.

MUSTARD SAUCE

2 tbsps. butter
1 tbsps. flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
2 tbsps. prepared mustard
1/2 cup liquid drained from peas
1 cup evaporated milk
1 tbsps. chopped pimiento
Melt butter in a small saucepan. Stir in flour and seasonings. Thin the mustard with a little of the liquid drained from peas and set aside. Add remainder of liquid from peas to flour mixture and cook over low heat, stirring frequently until thickened. Then gradually add milk and pimiento. Heat to serving temperature, stir in the mustard and cook over low heat for 2 minutes. Serve over timbales immediately.

Children Enjoy Banana Salad

Finely chopped California walnuts added to packaged chocolate angel food cake mix give an individual touch to your baking.

Frost cake with whipped cream blended with a little sifted cocoa and powdered sugar. Add a handsome ring of walnut halves around top of frosted cake.

Bright Relish Tray

Brighten a winter menu with a relish tray of crisp raw cauliflower and celery, handsome ripe olives and whole spiced canned cling peaches.

Green and White Version of Peach And Cheese Salad

Cling peaches and cottage cheese have been a duet for a long time because they're so complementary to one another. And green 'n' white peach salad is a version of this old favorite.

Chopped green pepper, celery and grated onion pep up the cottage cheese; golden peach halves are the pretty cups that hold it. It's easy to fix, and tasty.

GREEN 'N' WHITE PEACH SALAD

1 canned cling peach halves
1 cup cottage cheese

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION, Friday, Jan. 18, 1957 • 13-F

Fruits, Cheese Combine in Salad Fluff

A cool gelatin salad tastes just as good in winter as it does in summer, and always has the advantage of being ready to serve well in advance of mealtime.

Prunes, mayonnaise and cottage cheese folded into whipped lemon gelatin make fine eating in prune fluff salad.

PRUNE FLUFF

1 package lemon-flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1/2 cup cooking liquid from prunes
1/2 cup orange juice
1 tbsps. vinegar
Dash cayenne pepper
1 cup chopped cooked prunes
1 cup mayonnaise
1 cup cottage cheese
Lettuce
Dissolve gelatin in water. Blend in prune cooking liquid, orange juice, vinegar and cayenne. Cool until slightly thickened. Beat with rotary beater until fluffy. Fold in prunes, mayonnaise and cottage cheese. Turn into individual molds and chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce to serve. Makes about 5 to 6 servings.

HELP KIDNEYS FIGHT BACKACHE

There is nothing that can make you feel older and more depressed than losing sleep and worrying about "Bladder Weakness" (Getting Up Night or Bed Wetting, too frequent, burning and itching urination) or strong, cloudy urine, due to common kidney or bladder irritations, which sometimes result in backache, miserable referred, secondary aches, pains, headaches and nervousness. In such cases New Improved CYSTEX usually gives quick, wonderful, soothing relief by combating germs in acid urine, and by analgesic pain relief. Over a billion CYSTEX tablets used prove safety for young and old. Get CYSTEX from drugists today. Money-back guarantee.

Quick and Tasty Coffee Ring For On-the-Spot Dessert

When winter winds put a chill in the air, home should be a haven of hospitality—a place of warm and welcome friendship. One of the most cordial ways of greeting friends and neighbors during the cold season is to serve steaming cups of coffee or tea with tempting slices of homemade breads, hot from the oven.

These delicious companion pieces are welcomed at informal gatherings whether morning, noon or night. Here is a recipe for a delectable sweet coffee ring—a luscious circle of golden goodness. This ring, made with quick biscuit dough, contains golden shortening to give it a special golden flakiness. Such a ring, filled with raisins, nuts and spices, is easy to make and easy to bake.

It may be served fresh from the oven or reheated at leisure. It's good for breakfast, too:

QUICK COFFEE RING

2 cups sifted enriched flour
2 1/2 tps. double acting baking powder
1 tsp. salt
1/2 cup golden shortening
1/2 cup milk
2 tps. golden shortening
1 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup seedless raisins
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
Grated rind of 1 lemon

Combine flour, baking powder and salt in mixing bowl. With a pastry blender or two knives cut in the 1/2 cup golden shortening until it is broken into fine particles. Add milk and stir gently with a fork until dough holds together. Gather dough into a ball, turn it out onto a lightly floured board and knead gently with floured fingers, about 12 kneading strokes. Roll dough into a rectangle about 4 1/2-inch thick and spread it lightly with the two tablespoons golden shortening. Sprinkle with the cinnamon mixed with the brown sugar, raisins, walnuts and lemon rind. Roll dough over lengthwise as for a jelly roll and seal edge. Place the roll sealed side down on a baking sheet rubbed with golden shortening. Moisten ends of roll slightly and join ends to form a ring.

QUICK COFFEE RING

Spiced and Nutted

Make deep cuts with scissors at 1/2-inch intervals halfway through the ring and bake at 375 degrees for 25 minutes. While hot spread with confectioners' sugar icing.

CONFECTIONERS' SUGAR ICING

Mix 1 cup sifted confectioners sugar with 1 1/2 tablespoons milk or cream to make a thin icing.

In today's hand South became declarer at a contract of four spades. The king of clubs was opened and East signaled with the eight. The ace was continued and East completed the echo by playing the six. West knew that declarer could overruff his partner; so he shifted to the singleton diamond. This was taken in dummy and a low spade led to the queen. West won with the ace and continued with the jack of clubs. East made a useless discard, declarer ruffed, extract-

KEEP WELL Drug Addicts Don't Want To Be Cured

By DR. T. R. VAN DELLEN

The average drug addict is not the shifty-eyed, shabby individual pictured in the movies and magazines. He looks like anyone else. Some are well-dressed, particularly those who make enough money to afford addiction.

The majority do not want to be cured and ask for help only to reduce the quantity of the drug when it is hard to get and too expensive for their pocketbook.

In this respect, the addict differs from the alcoholic who is mentally confused, uncoordinated and incoherent. The boozier dreads his fate whereas the drug addict's only fear is that he will not be able to obtain his quota of opium, heroin, morphine or marijuana.

The only physical findings of addiction are the puncture marks, scars or obstructed veins where the narcotic has been inserted. The pupils of the eyes are constricted but this is not a specific finding because other drugs and conditions do the same.

Treatment of addiction is best accomplished in a closed institution. It must be done properly because withdrawal symptoms are severe and occasionally prove fatal.

But the results of therapy are not good and the majority of addicts return to their habit sooner or later.

Many authorities believe addiction cannot be prevented until the illicit narcotic traffic is banished. Men who thrive on this trade are traitors to humanity because they are responsible for untold misery and suffering.

Opium must be eradicated at its source because it is from this product that heroin and morphine are derived.

Close international cooperation is required and it is here that the United Nations could show evidence of world leadership.

Only a handful of men and women become addicts as a result of medical treatment. Introduction to these drugs usually is through social influences and contacts. Men are more susceptible than women, and the majority are between 20 and 30 years of age.

Easy access to the drugs also plays a role because doctors and nurses constitute the largest single occupational group of addicts.

"It's real mayonnaise flavor that makes Hellmann's my brand!"

says Mrs. Ray Harris
2615 Ben Hill Road

Hellmann's is always creamy, and full-bodied...doesn't separate even in hot weather

From the first spoonful in the jar, to the last, Hellmann's stays extra smooth and mild!

Dear Hellmann's:
With many foods, I switch from brand to brand and notice very little difference. But, with mayonnaise, that's something else again. It's always Hellmann's for me!

Since I discovered Hellmann's, I've stayed with it because it always has the true mayonnaise flavor we prefer. It's rich, yet mellow, with a natural goodness that's the equal of home-made.

Incidentally, for salads, I use Hellmann's just as it comes from the jar—I know it's always going to give them a delicate taste.

Mrs. Ray E. Harris

Switch to HELLMANN'S real whole-egg Mayonnaise. You'll like the difference, too!

Delicious Do-Ahead Dessert Of Creamy Chocolate, Nuts

Rocky road cream combines the crisp goodness of golden California walnuts with luscious chocolate and fluffy marshmallows. Smooth, creamy gelatin makes a perfect contrast for the generous measure of crunchy walnut bits which are found in every delightful bite.

Here's a delicious do-ahead pudding for busy cooks.

ROCKY ROAD CREAM
1 envelope plain gelatin
2 cups milk
1 egg
1 1/2 (1-ounce) squares unsweetened chocolate
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
12 marshmallows
1/2 cup whipping cream
1/2 cup California walnuts

Soften gelatin in 1/4 cup milk. Combine remaining milk, lightly beaten egg yolk, finely cut chocolate, sugar and salt. Heat over hot water, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens slightly. Blend in softened gelatin and stir until it is dissolved. Cool until mixture thickens. Fold in finely cut marshmallows, stiffly beaten egg white and whipped cream, and chopped walnuts. Chill until firm. Serves 6 to 8.

Meat Accompaniment

Serve crisp cole slaw, garnished with well-drained canned cling peach slices, along with an oven dinner of meat loaf and scalloped potatoes.

Chicken Fricassee, Potatoes Make a Tasty Dinner for Two

Here's a recipe that's easy as basking on a Florida beach. It teams a can of that convenient and delicious boned chicken fricassee with leftover mashed potatoes. Here's how for two people, just double for 4: In a saucepan, combine 1 can (16-ounce size) boned chicken fricassee with 2 tablespoons very finely diced scallions; heat. Mix 1/4 cup grated cheese with about 1 cup hot mashed potatoes. Pour the hot fricassee into 2 buttered individual shallow baking dishes. Sprinkle with 2 tablespoons diced scallions. Force mashed potatoes through a pastry tube, or use a spoon to make a pretty design around the edge of each; sprinkle 1/4 cup grated cheese over potatoes and broil until cheese bubbles.

Spicy Green Salad

Shredded cabbage, green pepper slivers and chunks of ripe olives make a delicious salad molded in plain gelatin with accents of lemon, vinegar and sugar. To give it an intriguing new flavor, dissolve a chicken bouillon cube in the hot water.

Sandwich Topping

What goes on a cheese sandwich? Rich brown prepared mustard, of course! But for a tasty flavor change, combine the mustard with tangy deviled ham, and spread a thin layer of the combination on the bread slices.

Tidbits for Hot or Cold Hors D'Oeuvres

Hors d'oeuvres and canapés add that important extra touch to any special occasion.

These bite-size tidbits can be the feature of your party if you use your imagination both in making and decorating them.

The browned bread shells are particularly nice to hold hot canapé mixtures and those made with mayonnaise or any mixture that is slightly "runny." To prepare the cases, cut thin slices of white bread into two-inch squares, brush each piece lightly with melted butter and press firmly into tiny greased muffin tins. Bake in the oven at 400 degrees until crisp and brown.

If you don't have the very small size muffin tins (actually, these are almost doll size) slice white bread one-half-inch thick and cut into squares. Scoop out centers to form tiny shells, brush with melted butter and bake on a cookie sheet at 400 degrees. Either the cases or the shells can be filled ahead of time and popped in the gas broiler or oven at the last minute.

Here is one suggestion for a "conversation" piece hors d'oeuvre:

TUNA FISH AND HAM SHEELS
Mix equal quantities of chopped tuna fish and boiled ham with enough creamed butter to form a paste. Fill brown bread cases or shells with the mixture and top with grated cheese. Just before serving run the canapés under the broiler to reheat and melt the cheese.

Deviled Swiss Steak For Unusual Entree

Deviled, according to definition, means highly seasoned. And dry mustard, pounded into round steak along with the flour gives this swiss steak a deviled flour.

Serve fruit salad of pineapple chunks and apples slices on lettuce to accompany the steak.

DEVILED SWISS STEAK

1 1/2 pounds beef round steak
1/4 cup flour
1 tsp. dry mustard
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
1 medium onion, sliced
2 tbsps. fat
1 clove garlic, minced
1 can tomatoes (2 cups)

Mix flour, mustard, salt and pepper and pound into steak with meat pounder or the edge of a heavy saucer. Cook onion in hot fat until yellow, and push to one side of pan. Brown meat thoroughly on both sides. Add remaining ingredients. Cover pan and cook over low heat 2 hours or until meat is tender. Add a small amount of water during cooking, if necessary. 6 servings.

Prune, Orange Loaf With Sugar Icing

A loaf of prune and orange quick bread becomes dessert fare when you frost it with a thin powdered sugar icing and sprinkle it generously with chopped walnuts.

DEVILING IS NEW APPROACH TO SWISS STEAK
New Taste Is Pounded In With the Flour

Cinnamon Whirl Loaf A Breakfast Special

A delightfully fragrant and satisfying cinnamon whirl loaf will send the family scampering to the breakfast table. Chop the crisp California walnuts quite fine before rolling them into the dough so you'll have no trouble in cutting the loaf in even slices.

Hot cocoa and lightly buttered and toasted slices of this spicy bread make fine late evening snacks for young folks.

CINNAMON WHIRL LOAF

1 (14-ounce) package hot roll mix
6 tbsps. sugar
1 tbsps. melted butter or margarine
1 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 cup chopped California walnuts
Prepare hot roll mix as directed on package adding 2 tablespoons sugar to dry ingredients. Cover bowl, and let rise in warm place until very light (about 1 1/2 hours). Turn dough out onto floured board and roll to rectangle about 10x18 inches. Brush with butter. Blend remaining 4 tablespoons sugar with cinnamon and walnuts, and sprinkle over dough. Roll as for jelly roll from long side, rolling as tightly as possible. Place in greased loaf pan (10x5x3 inches). Let rise until doubled in bulk.

Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees) 50 to 60 minutes. Turn out onto wire rack to cool. Makes 1 loaf.

Rejectors Of God Must Be Judged

QUESTION: Mr. Graham, there is one thing I do not understand. It concerns the expression, "God's wrath." I am completely gripped and bewildered when I hear this for I have never found God to be wrathful. Please explain what you and other preachers mean when this expression is used.

—Mrs. J. J. R.
ANSWER: The "wrath" of God is not to be compared to the wrath of men, "for as the heavens are high above the earth, so are His ways higher than our ways." God, being a Holy God, is not capable of sinful anger, such as we know among men. However, His absolute holiness cannot countenance sin. Sin, the venom of the universe, is repugnant to Him, and He looks upon it with absolute disfavor; particularly in His creation, man. Because His love is limitless, He loathes any force or any object, or any habit that would hinder or destroy the objects of His affection. He hates sin but loves the sinner. Just as a parent is "wrathful" toward the threats to his child's welfare, so God with disfavor on the forces that hinder us from being all that He would have us to be.

There is a sense, however, when the holiness of God and the love of God, must yield to the justice of God. He is not only holy, and compassionate, but He is just. There comes a time, according to the Bible, when men who persist in rejecting God's offer of mercy, must be judged. That is what makes God's grace so great; because the alternative to it is so awful. The Bible says: "He that believeth on the Son hath life, but he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth upon him."

And always, there's some loving spouse . . . who wants to re-arrange the house . . . she finds the kitchen is too small . . . a carpenter tears down a wall . . . and moves it to some other place . . . which leaves a wide and yawning space . . . in both the ceiling and the floor . . . some other workman must restore.

There's something else, now, let me think . . . Oh, yes, the plumber moves the sink . . . the painters bring their ladders in . . . but tell you that they can't begin . . . to paint until the walls are dry . . . and, thus, your troubles multiply . . . The whole darned place will be upset . . . and that will help you to forget . . . the cars and yacht and all the horde . . . of other things you can't afford.

AT THE CABARETS

Joint Jumps as 4 Texans Rock 'n' Roll at Night Spot

Four rock 'n' roll singers who do things four times as well as does Elvis Presley are currently being featured in the show at the Domino Lounge.

They're the Four Mints, a quartet of fresh-looking young men who come from Texas. They can do the modern songs as well as the rocking type. But, turn them loose on "Hound Dog," "Don't Be Cruel" and "This Old House" and the joint will start jumping.

This is the second visit here for the Mints. And, indications are it may be their last for a spell. They go to Las Vegas from the Domino to appear in one of the top spots there, and they have some TV contracts in the making.

Good entertainment is to be had in other clubs here, also. The Steak Ranch is spotlighting the comedy of Bruce Stevens, impressionist-musician, and Adril Ames, singing star. Larry Ward and his band play for dancing there. Duke Marvino and his sophisticated samba band are at the El Morocco for dancing. Johnny Ryan is starring in a return engagement at the Zebra Lounge.

Hildegard and Spain, adagio team which recently came over from Europe, are offering something different in the way of dancing entertainment at the Biltmore. Freddie Martell, MGM recording star, is headliner. Sonny Morgan's band plays for shows and dancing. (PAUL JONES.)

Beauty Rates High

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Beauty doesn't rate far behind health in Mexico.

The Health Ministry said 47,360 types of medicines, curatives and insecticides are registered, compared with 26,891 beauty products.

British Army Disliked Film Now at Art

The British War Office refused to okay "Private's Progress," new Peachtree Art comedy. Small wonder—for this irreverent, thoroughly funny film thumbs its nose at traditional military heroism. "Private's Progress" details the military misadventures of a blundering soldier with two left feet who gets involved with goldbricking GIs and larcenous officers. Ian Carmichael plays the naive private. Richard Attenborough, Jill Adams and Dennis Price are featured. English accents and army terms occasionally are a trifle confusing, but there are still plenty of laughs. A striking short subject on the life of the Oo-la-la...new Super-Rinse all!

 Gets anything washable 50% whiter and brighter than ever before. Now made with miracle AE-160!

Prescribed for automatic washers

all is the original "controlled suds" detergent prescribed by automatic washer makers and servicemen for best washing results. Try new Super-Rinse all in your automatic... you'll love it!

Never a Suds Scum Streak

Handkerchief above shows how dulling Suds Scum often left by hard-to-rinse thick suds can deposit in folds of fresh-washed clothes. But all washes with free-rinsing "controlled suds"—leaves both washables and washer free from any sign of Suds Scum. So clothes rinse fresh and clean... can't yellow, or scorch when you iron.

all* costs less to use

One tablespoon of all with "controlled suds" gives water greater wash-ability than three tablespoons of the leading thick-sudser. It takes so little of condensed all to wash clothes free of dirt! Just measure new Super-Rinse all by the tablespoon... instead of by the cupful... and save on every load you wash in your automatic!

all is made by MONSANTO... Where creative chemistry works wonders for you
